Dr. Avtar Jandi

Avtar Jandi has BVSc and MVSc from Punjab Agricultural University, Ludhaina India before immigrating to University of Maryland, College Park as a Research Fellow. Eventually, he found a position in the residency program of American College of Veterinary Surgeons as the American Universities and Institutes were trying to recruit persons of minorities to higher education at the start of current century. He completed residency in small animal surgery and became Diplomate of American College of Veterinary Surgeons in Small Animal Surgery. Dr Jandi hopes to see CVBC to be inclusive and respectful for minorities as well as underrepresented communities and be part of the process to pursue this goal. He wants CVBC to acheive an excellence in EDI so the rest of the nation can follow.