Rabbi's Message...

Often, we do not know what is missing until it is taken away. We miss what we had. In a similar vein, we do not understand the significance of what is not missing from our lives, because it was never there.

For this reason, tradition dictates that we recite a litany of blessings each day, acknowledging the critical value of our eyesight, the ability to be mobile, our breath… The Talmud teaches that we need to say at least one hundred blessings every day. The underlying rationale is that we need to learn how to appreciate all the things that are not wrong in our lives.

A man was hospitalized and nearly died from toxins backing up in his body. When I sat with him during his surgical recovery, he passionately told me, "Rabbi, I will never take that blessing we say for moving our bowels for granted!" (p. 63 in Sim Shalom)

Each morning as I wrap myself in my tallit, preparing to daven, I thank the Holy One for a new day, making me in G-d's image (with nearly unlimited untapped potential), restoring my soul, my vision, blessing me with legs that work, a functional mind, a body that works as it is supposed to… and for not being a slave.

When we make Kiddush on Shabbat we say, zecher l'tziat mitzrayim, "remember the liberation from Egypt." We sing those words often as it expresses gratitude for being freed from slavery. Freedom is essential and needful for all people. That message is reinforced time and again throughout our prayers so that we feel the gift of freedom, G-d's beneficence, and the critical importance of emancipating the oppressed, the enslaved.

Passover is upon us and we retell the great story of our liberation. Why do we read of the great miracles, the Ten Plagues, the parting of the Sea, and the manna in the desert as gifts from G-d? We recite them because it reinforces the meaning of our existence in the world, imatio Dei, behaving like G-d. Rabbi Moshe, a Hasidic sage, was known to say, "If someone comes to you and asks your help, you shall not say pious words like, 'Have faith and take your troubles to G-d!' You shall act as if there were no G-d, as if there were only one person in all the world who could help this person - only yourself."

Appreciation of our freedom allows us to understand G-d's great gift and the need to ensure that no one is a slave today. What moves us to work to unshackle the enslaved? Think of children and women bought and sold and consider the slave labor camps of North Korea and in China.

As we approach Pesach, we are compelled to face the reality of the ultimate cruelty that humans do to one another. Those who survived the Holocaust understand the ramifications of the brutality of forced labor and labeling people as sub-human and therefore expendable. In America, and virtually every part of the world, human trafficking and enslavement have been part of its history.

Abraham Lincoln said, "As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master." He, who saw the savagery of slavery, was empathic enough to realize that the pain caused to human beings by enslavement has no cost benefit; it only poisons the soul. The scholar Hillel also understood the power of pathos for another human being when he pronounced, "What is hurtful to you, do not do to others."

On Pesach, we reawaken to the painful realities of life. We are free and that is a gift not to be taken for granted. Others still suffer under the scorching heat of servitude. I hope that we can find meaning in our freedom this year as we sit and celebrate the marvelous gift we have been fortunate to be born into. At the same time, I hope we will speak at our seder tables and commit work to unbind the fetters of those who are still not free.

May this be our focus and prayer of the holy night of Pesach.

Rabbi Jonathan Case

Mazel Tov!

Lyssa & Jonathan Harvey, on the announcement of your daughter, Eden Hendrick, being named Executive Director of the South Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) by Governor Henry McMaster.

President's Message...

Shalom! I hope this note finds you well. It's hard to believe, but as I write this letter, not only are we are turning the corner from winter to spring, but it's also hard to believe that I am in the fourth month of my term. It's flying by! What a wonderful time of the year as we just completed our Purim celebrations and we start to turn our attention to Passover. These are two holidays that are always very meaningful, especially with everything going on in the world right now. For this month's article, I'd like to touch on a couple of subjects.

First off, I'd like to recognize Risa and the rest of the religious school staff. They, along with the Tree of Life religious school staff, were able to put on a fun and safe Purim carnival in the Beth Shalom parking lot on March 20th with over 150 participants attending! When I think back to some of the experiences we've had over the last couple of years with Covid, it was extremely rewarding to see our youth and their families being able to come together and enjoy each other's company again.

Speaking of Covid, our health and welfare team continues to meet regularly. This team is made up of me, the Rabbi, a number of doctors, public health professionals, and key members of our congregation. We will continue to evaluate our position based on scientific evidence and our community's best interest. Many of you have shared your opinion with me and I appreciate your feedback. We will continue to re-evaluate our position as medical evidence dictates and will share any changes in policy with you as they become available.

In terms of security updates, we have a lot going on. Jeff Silverberg, your Beth Shalom Vice President, has just recently completed the 2022 security grant application process for additional security projects. He is also currently in the process of completing the application to reallocate some 2020 and 2021 grant dollars in order to fund phase 1 of the Hammer Garden renovation. Following this past board meeting, your Beth Shalom Board of Directors, successfully completed the CAT (Countering Active Threats) training provided by the Federation and the SCN. At our next board meeting, we will complete the STB (Stop the Bleed) training and then we will have successfully completed our goal of having been trained in all three recommended courses.

Regarding some of our other goals, work continues on the 501c3 application as well as with the youth survey. I would expect to have some updates on both of those projects during the May meeting and will share those here in my June column. We are continuing to collect aluminum tops for the Ronald McDonald house, and thus far we have collected 1 gallon with our goal being 10 gallons by the end of our term.

I hope you and your family have a safe and happy Pesach!

Randy Stark

Dear Beth Shalom Members:

Please examine your synagogue statement carefully (sent quarterly) and be sure that it reflects all payments and donations made to Beth Shalom so far this year. If there are any discrepancies, unpaid balances you do not concur with as shown, please call the synagogue office at (803) 782-2500 or contact our Financial Secretary, James Cooper at (803) 446-9803.

Thank you for your continued support!

Summary of the Beth Shalom Board Meeting (In-Person & Via Zoom) Minutes on March 16, 2022

President's Report: Welcome back and thank you for being here in person. There has been quite a lot of activity over the past month so let's talk about items from last month, some updates on my goals and then some plans for next month's meeting.

Next Month:

- If possible, we're going to meet in person again. While Covid #'s are dropping rapidly, we will still take necessary precautions and we will continue to monitor the situation but, the Stop the Bleed class is required to be taught in person. It's also limited to certain # of participants so we will have a 6– 7pm class for those who can come early, Board Meeting will meet from 7–8pm and then have another class from 8-9pm for those who are not able to come early. This will fulfill our obligation and our board will have completed all of the available security classes.
- Please continue to search the web for programs that Beth Shalom (Religious School and / or Synagogue) can participate in once we become 501c3 certified.
- Please continue to collect the aluminum can tops, ask your friends or businesses that you work with to do it as well to help multiply your efforts.

You should have received a copy of the 100th anniversary book about Beth Shalom. It's a short read, but I'm asking you to try and read it. I believe it's important for us to know our past so we can better understand why we're here and why we're doing what we're doing as a board.

Community Relations: Messages have gone out to support Ukraine. The Jewish Film Festival started March 15, 2022. The Film Festival is one hundred percent online.

Finance/Budget: Reviewed financials for the month of February 2022 compared to the previous year at the same time. Still working on getting a credit card for the synagogue and these discussions are still with the Finance Committee. More information on the credit card to come.

Health and Safety Committee: Met recently and decided to keep the current protocols in place for the month of March. The numbers for community spread via the CDC website by county will help inform if and when protocols will be updated.

Security and Safe Team: 2022 Nonprofit Security Grant application was submitted yesterday March 14, 2022. We requested funds for adding more fencing around HVAC units in the back of the synagogue. Working on reallocating funding to support making the Hammer Garden safer and continuing to finish other projects in progress including door replacement and security camera upgrades.

Rabbi's Report: Rabbi is part of podcast with a Pastor and an Imam, in which they discuss different topics and show how different faiths can talk about topics and work together. Purim is Wednesday March 16, 2022. The bulletin will have more information. Passover is coming in April and there will be an in person seder with limited numbers because of COVID safety protocols. Nehemiah Action is coming up April 4th at the Columbia Convention Center and the topics include affordable housing, mental health and police certification for recognizing mental health when dealing with the public. March 19th one of the More Justice leaders will be at Shabbat.

Dear Beth Shalom Family,

"Abraham's Table" Podcasts

Featuring Rabbi Case, Imam Omar Shaheed and Rev. Ellen Fowler Skidmore

Come join us at Abraham's Table, the first roundtable conversation between Islam, Christianity and Judaism!! We decided to do something concrete to dispel myths, preconceptions and biases about others, and speak about the deep and meaningful issues that impact our lives, and the lives of our community.

Myself, Imam Omar Shaheed and Rev. Ellen Fowler Skidmore came together to restart the critical tradition of interfaith dialogue. Together we have crafted a podcast series highlighting our commonalities and differences. The Christian, Jewish, and Muslim faiths share Abraham as the father of our religions - which gave birth to the name of the podcasts, Abraham's Table, and we invite you join us in several lively and respectful interfaith discussions. We do not always agree, but love G-d, respect one another, and we recognize that every human being is made in the image of G-d.

Join us as we talk about issues that affect us all. From spiritual disciplines and Biblical instructions for living a meaningful life to discussions of immigration and mental health, please join us at Abraham's Table.

Each week we will share another conversation. Be a part of our table. Come, sit.

"Abraham's Table" is now available on Spotify, Google Podcasts, Apple Podcasts, Amazon/Audible Podcasts, Anchor and Amazon Music.
