The Governor encourages New Jerseyans to visit nj211.org for statewide emergency resources. This situation continues to change, so SNAP food assistance recipients should check their accounts at NJFamiliesFirst.com; call and visit njsnap.gov for updates on the status of their SNAP benefits. A number of pantries offer fresh produce in addition to stable, non-perishable foods, shopping appointments, and information about additional services. Residents are encouraged to locate food pantries and community kitchens via NJ 211 here.

For emotional support, information, and referral, individuals are encouraged to access services through NJ Mental Health Cares at (866) 202-HELP (4357) or NJ MentalHealthCares (https://www.nmhanj.org/new-jersey-metnal-health-cares/)
