Hi all,

I am extremely pleased to announce that Olivia “Liv” Dickinson will be joining our team in January as the new Assistant News Director. Liv is likely known to several of you, she is currently the Assistant News Director at our station in Colorado Springs. Both KB and I have been collaborating with her for a couple of years now. Prior to joining KOAA as the AND, Live worked at the Fox station in Seattle. She was the morning EP there for four years and had an outstanding reputation in the market.
Liv started her career in 2012 as a producer in Lubbock, Texas and then Greensboro, North Carolina.

Liv is from a military family and is a self-proclaimed army brat! She has lived and traveled all over the world. She lived in Colorado Springs for a few years she was younger. Her family has moved back to Colorado Springs where her dad, a General, is Commander of U.S. Space Command! I think that’s a cool factoid!

Liv is running the election show for KOAA and is instrumental in their November promotables. She is then traveling for two weeks in December, so she won’t be joining our team until January 3rd.

She is coming to the station tomorrow just to say hello and meet as many of you as possible. Please join me in welcoming her to our great team!

Holly Gauntt
Sr. News Director
