Senior Content Producer

Please join us in congratulating Amanda Steffen on her promotion to Senior Content Producer. Amanda has earned the title and has demonstrated her leadership abilities to embrace new ideas, technologies and ways to reach our audiences. She will continue to produce the 6pm newscast and assume responsibility for overseeing production of new content for our OTT platform. She'll work directly with Brad Luck and our digital team to identify unique news content opportunities.

This past year Amanda worked directly with Promotions to successfully grow our audience at 6pm with strong topical teases. We've all watched as Amanda raised her hand over and over again to help the team through a very challenging year. She worked with Engineers to develop the technology that allows Producers to produce from home. Most recently she's been working with Engineers, our super user team and Producers to get everyone ready for our Galaxy launch. Her work with Galaxy does not end with the launch. She will continue to work with the entire team to evolve and develop best practices for Galaxy.

Amanda's experience, ability to imagine the possibilities as well as her ability to pull teams together to accomplish a common goal make her the perfect person for this new opportunity.

New Dayside Executive Producer

We are also welcoming Shelitha Hurd to the NBC Connecticut team as our new Dayside Executive Producer. She'll join the team April 5th. Shelitha comes to us with a wealth of experience as a Producer and Executive Producer in a number of markets including Nashville, Houston, Baltimore, North Carolina and Atlanta.

She's currently at WSB in Atlanta where she produces the 4pm newscast. In addition to her daily show, Shelitha has also produced numerous specials including one that honored the lives of civil rights giants Congressman John Lewis and Reverends C.T. Vivian and Joseph Lowery. She was also tapped to be a part of the WSB-TV Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Council.

In her spare time, she loves to volunteer with her church and community service organizations. However, her favorite pastime is watching basketball! Her nephew played overseas for a few years, so it's pretty common for her family to get together and watch a game. She's excited about joining the NBC Connecticut family.
