Friends and Action News Jax journalists,

I am so proud of the hard work our newsroom takes on each day. It's a difficult mission but an important one.

We put a spotlight on wrongdoing. We get results for our community. We save lives during hurricane season when we go wall-to-wall with our coverage.

I've been fortunate to work in journalism for 33 years and spend 11 of those years with CMG.

But nothing is more important than family. My parents are in their 80's. After spending time with my folks in Northern Minnesota in August, I want to see them more often during their final years.

With that goal in mind, I've made the difficult decision to move on from Action News Jax. My last day here will be November 22nd, which enables me to be with you through the important November book. Together we will make a difference and hold powerful people accountable.

Most of all, I just want to say thank you. I've learned so much from everyone at Action News Jax. Long after the November book ends, I will enjoy watching your newscasts. And I will always cheer on your successes.

If you have any questions, as always, I am happy to talk with you.

Lisa
