

Dr. Henry Kiragu Wambuii

Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Central Missouri

tuvuga Millennial Advisory Board

Dr. Henry Kiragu Wambuii is an Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Central Missouri. Dr. Wambuii received his B.A. from the University of Nairobi, Kenya, his Masters degree in International Development Administration (MDA) and his Ph.D. in Political Science from Western Michigan University.

His areas of expertise are International Development, State and Civil Society in Developing Countries and Comparative Global Education Policy. Recent research has focused on public policy formulation in the developing countries, with a special focus on the issues surrounding the response to the HIV/AIDS pandemic and the impact on democratization in sub-Saharan Africa.

He has conducted extensive research on politics in the developing world. Most recently, his published research has been on issues surrounding responses to HIV/AIDS and the pandemic's impact on political participation and governance. Other research interest is on poverty alleviation strategies in the developing world.

His publications include a book titled: The Politics of HIV/AIDS and Implications for Democracy in Kenya (2006), a book chapter entitled For the Sake of Children: Community Based projects in Kenya in The Children of Africa Confront AIDS (2003) and several journal articles published among others in the African Studies Review, Journal of Third World Studies and in the International Journal of Ecology and Development. Dr. Wambuii has also authored several articles published in the International Encyclopedia of Political Science (2010).