BLACK LIVES MATTER.

BLACK LIVES COUNT.

The 2020 CENSUS is happening right now.

Long Island 2020 Census

Every Person Counts

Swipe to see why it's so important.

A few [key] facts:

The 2020 Census decides federal funding and representation. If the 2020 Census undercounts black communities, as it has historically, then we are witnessing inequality perpetuate in real time.

It should be no surprise that the historically underfunded black and minority communities have also been historically undercounted.

A few [key] facts:

- The 2010 Census undercounted communities of color by 1.5 MILLION people.
- African American men have been historically undercounted in greater numbers than men of other racial or ethnic groups.
- Today, more than one in three African Americans live in hard-to-count census tracts.

A few [key] facts:

More than $675 Billion in federal funding is determined by Census data. These funding levels will be in place until the next Census in [2030].

That money is used to fund hospitals, health care, roads & infrastructure, public schools, public programs like SNAP, WIC & HeadStart, and so much more.

Communities can only receive the fair funding and representation if the Census count is complete.

If the 2020 Census undercounts black communities, as it has historically, then we are witnessing inequality perpetuate in real time.

The [2020 Census] is easier to complete than ever before.

It can be done in less than ten minutes right from your home. Don't wait- complete the Census today.
