"Open Ended"

Katie Korotzer

Korotzer, of Orinda, has been doing art since childhood. She is a candidate for the Certificate in Painting at UC Berkeley Extension. "Art has always been a way for me to express myself without being concerned about whether anyone thinks I'm doing it correctly. I'm always experimenting when I'm in the studio and through my art I can bring forth my fears, my joy, my thoughts and feelings," she said.

During COVID-19 quarantine she created a number of paintings on very large (5' x 5') pieces of unstretched raw canvas. Her theme, "Open Ended" explores the fact that despite our best plans, life throws the unexpected in our paths. "During the pandemic I traveled back and forth to Georgia to help out with a family member who had been ill. The sense of distance, the loss of control over my daily environment during such a dangerous time and the feeling of entering into the unknown territory of illness gave me a lot to process when I was able to paint in my studio," she said.
