Chlldren's Museum hosts Halloween event

PHOTOS BY LAURA GREENE | HPE

Brittany Gregg, right, an educator with the N.C. Zoo, introduces a tarantula spider named Teo to Jackson Snipes, 6, who was sporting his Spider-Man costume while visiting the Nido and Mariana Qubein Children's Museum to enjoy the festivities for EEK Stravaganza Friday. Other activities included goo worms and making yarn monsters and slime, followed by a Halloween parade.

Donia Karama, right, a student in the Bonner Program at High Point University, assists a group of students in making Halloween slime.