James to perform at High Point Theatre

BY ENTERPRISE STAFF

HIGH POINT — Soul and R&B singing sensation Leela James, whom James Brown once called "The Goddaughter of Soul," will perform at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the High Point Theatre, 220 E. Commerce Ave.

With a voice that's raw, powerful and unmistakably soul-stirring, James has carved out a singular space in music where classic soul meets contemporary R&B. Since her breakout debut, "A Change Is Gonna Come," in 2005, she has earned a reputation for blending deep, emotive storytelling with gritty vocals and timeless grooves.

In 2014, James won The Soul Train Certified Award, and in 2021, she received an NAACP Image Award nomination for Best R&B Collaboration.

SPECIAL | HPE

Leela James, a powerhouse soul and R&B vocalist, will perform Saturday evening at the High Point Theatre.

She earned another NAACP nomination in 2025 for her powerful single, "Lookat Whatcha Done Now," featuring Kenyon Dixon, further cementing her role as a vital and enduring voice in modern soul.

Tickets for the concert range from $48 to $111 and can be purchased online at highpointtheatre.com or by calling the theater box office at 336-887-3001.
