1 We pray for the families torn apart by unjust immigration policies.	2 We pray for parents who ache for their children left behind in dangerous situations.	3 We pray for those living in detention centers, facing isolation and despair.	4 We pray for those who have fled unimaginable violence and now face uncertainty.	5 We pray for all whose dignity is disregarded because of the place they were born.	6 We pray for those anguished by the destruction of their homelands due to war, conflict, and climate disasters.	7 We pray for families separated by borders and for the grief of parents and children who may never reunite.
8 We pray for the trauma carried by those who have endured treacherous journeys to safety.	9 We pray for parents who live in fear for their children's safety in new and unfamiliar lands.	10 We pray for those deported to lands where they have no support system, no family to receive them, no safety net to catch them.	11 We pray for those navigating the disorientation of exile, grieving what was lost while trying to survive what is now.	12 We pray for those carrying the weight of stigma and shame, labeled and judged in places that do not know their full story.	13 We pray for compassionate and creative solutions for immigrants, asylum seekers, and refugees.	14 We pray for communities to open their hearts and homes in welcome.
15 We pray for policies that prioritize dignity and justice for all people.	16 We pray for organizations and advocates working tirelessly for change.	17 We pray for strength and encouragement for immigrant families facing ongoing uncertainty.	18 We pray for those called to lead in faith and justice for immigrants and refugees.	19 We pray for the courage to not look away from the suffering of the world.	20 We pray for compassion to see each immigrant and refugee as made in God's image.	21 We pray for the wisdom and discernment of our political leaders, that they may lead justly and creatively for the good of all.
22 We pray for border patrol and law enforcement, that they may have wisdom and strength to uphold the law.	23 We pray for immigrant children navigating schools, language barriers, and identity in a new land.	24 We pray for churches to rise up as places of refuge, advocacy, and radical welcome.	25 We pray for those who have lost hope in the immigration system.	26 We pray for those working low-wage, essential jobs while carrying the weight of legal uncertainty.	27 We pray for bilingual leaders, translators, and cultural bridge-builders.	28 We pray for the healing of intergenerational trauma caused by displacement and separation.
29 We pray for citizens who feel overwhelmed by the brokenness but want to help.	30 We pray for holy imagination to envision a world where no one is illegal and all are welcomed as neighbors.
