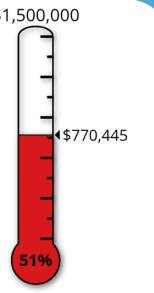
FLOW 1874 Progress Update



We have something wonderful to celebrate.

As of this week, 94 households have made contributions or commitments totaling $770,445.70 toward the FLOW 1874 Project. Together, we have passed the halfway mark, and we are deeply grateful.

FLOW has never simply been about raising money. It is about allowing God's generosity to move through us for the sake of those who are here now and those who will come after us. It is about joining the flow of grace that has carried this congregation since 1874 and helping it continue into the next generation.

Construction is also moving quickly, even if it looks more like dust and disruption than renewal right now. By the end of this past week, much of the interior wall structure in the garden level will have been removed. You can see progress photos on the east bridge, and we are also sharing progress videos on the UMCG Facebook page.

One important clarification: the FLOW 1874 commemorative name tags are not just for those who make a financial gift. They are for anyone who supports this project with their prayers, presence, gifts, service, or witness. Whether our support comes through giving, praying, volunteering, encouraging others, sharing the story, or simply standing with the church in this season, we are part of the FLOW.

Anyone may request a special name tag as a visible sign of support for the project, no matter what form that support takes.
