A Day of Respite

The Foxie G Foundation became interested in the topic of equine assisted therapy in 2018 when several of its retired horses were placed at the Baltimore County Equestrian Center, for use in its therapy program, geared towards treatment of veterans. Since that time Foxie G has been reaching out to many local military veterans organizations to better understand the scope and need for mental health services for this, and other underserved communities.

After hosting a major veteran event, we soon became aware of the basic need for many other faith and community service organizations, including their families and support workers, to “get away from it all” for a day.

The beautiful farm at Foxie G is available for such breaks, that we call “A Day of Respite”.

The farm, located in Union Bridge, Maryland (Frederick County), is over 120-acres in size, and includes landscaped gardens, hanging baskets, shaded areas, and lovely vistas – perfect for picnics and other outdoor activities.

Foxie G can provide a free venue, and work with your service or faith organization to accommodate food, drinks, small games, and other activities that are provided by your organization. Examples include:

- Food and beverage trucks/ vendors or bring your own picnic
- Corn Hole, ring toss, other small games
- Scavenger Hunts, Children’s art activities
- Moon Bounce
- Tents/ tables/ chairs
- Music/ Bands

As time and staffing permits, Foxie G may also be able to coordinate farm tours, hayrides, or a supervised “meet and greet” with some of our horses, or other farm friends. Please contact us if you would like to learn more about “A Day of Respite”.
