Politics of the Pantry:

Housewives, Food, and Consumer Protest in Twentieth-Century America

by

Emily E. LB. Twarog, PhD

Saturday, Nov. 18, 2017
1:00 - 3:00 pm
Piper Hall, Loyola University Chicago
970 W. Sheridan Rd, Chicago, IL

Emily Twarog's Politics of the Pantry examines how working- and middle-class American housewives organized grass roots efforts, from the 1930s to the 1970s, to protest high food costs and related domestic issues to assert political power and secure a more just and prosperous society.

Please join us for a conversation with the author and women interviewed for the book including:
*Lynne Heidt, former leader of National Consumer's Union
*Jackie Kendall, former director of Midwest Academy
*Jan Schakowsky, Congresswoman, Illinois' 9th District (invited)
*Bonnie Wilson, former Evanston Township Assessor.

Light refreshments will be served. This event is co-sponsored by Chicago Women's History Center and Chicago Coalition for Labor Union Women, Illinois Labor History Society, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Women and Leadership Archives at Loyola University, Working Women's History Project.
