Casting a vote for a write-in candidate
On a paper ballot:

- Write the name of the write-in candidate on the line provided in a particular race.
- Mark the corresponding oval

In single-vote races, no other votes can be cast in a race where a write-in vote was cast. In multiple-vote races, a voter may cast one or more votes for write-in candidates, but is limited to the number of votes allowed in a given race.

On a touchscreen:

- Press the "write-in" box at the bottom of the list of candidates. A key board will appear.
- Type a name using the letters on the keyboard and space key to separate the first and last name. •
- When finished, press "OK."

In single-vote races, no other votes can be cast in a race where a write-in vote was cast. In multiple-vote races, a voter may cast one or more votes for write-in candidates, but is limited to the number of votes allowed in a given race.

Validity of write-in votes
Complete accuracy of a write-in candidate's name is not necessary as long as the election judges can determine a voter's intent to select a specific write-in candidate. There should be some relationship between the appearance or sound of the name written or printed on the ballot and that of the write-in candidate's actual name.
If there is a dispute, a majority of the election judges must agree as to the intent of the voter. fl a majority agreement among the election judges cannot be reached, the write-in vote will not be counted.
