Jennifer and Patricia Tao both lead active careers as performers and teachers. They are natives of Florida, born and raised in Miami. Their performing and teaching careers have been centered in New York City for Jennifer and Edmonton, Canada for Patricia. Jennifer's undergraduate degree is from The New England Conservatory of Music with Masters and Doctorates from State University of New York at Stony Brook. She is on the piano performance faculty at Princeton University where she teaches piano and chamber music. Patricia's undergraduate degree is from Harvard University with Masters and Doctorates from Indiana University and State University of New York at Stony Brook. She is Professor of Music and Undergraduate Associate Chair at the University of Alberta.

They have each performed throughout the United States, Europe and Asia. Having also performed as duo pianists, they are pleased to be performing this benefit concert of four hand music at Presbyterian Church of the Covenant.
