

Helping Grieving Children and Families

Judi's House is the only free-standing organization in the Metro Denver area devoted solely to supporting grieving children and their families. Since 2002, Judi's House has supported more than 8,000 youth, ages 3-25, and their caregivers, toward our vision that no child should be alone in grief. Thanks to the generosity of donors, there is no cost to families participating in Judi's House services and programs.

Mission, Vision and Core Values

The mission of Judi's House is to help children and families grieving a death find connection and healing. Our vision is that no child should be alone in grief. We expect to achieve this vision by adhering to three core values:

accountability.
