Great news! Beyond are excited to announce the recent successful test and release of our AAV ready-to-use titration kit. AAV ready-to-use titration kit contains all of the reagents necessary for titration of adeno-associated virus (AAV) particles with step-by-step protocol, which makes AAV titration easy and labor-saving. The kit is designed to quantify AAV titer with optimized qPCR, which allows for more precise and rapid quantification of viral titer than conventional DNA blot and ELISA methods.

The AAV titers varied greatly due to the different titration methods or the different operators. With our kit, standardized program and protocol make it more accurate, and greatly decrease the system errors from the operators with different professional backgrounds.

Please contact us at info@biotechbeyond.com, we will try our best to make our products better for your work.

Hanqing Ye

Founder & CEO
Beyond Biotech
hye@biotechbeyond.com
info@biotechbeyond.com

www.biotechbeyond.com