President & CEO

Uptown Consortium, Inc.

Beth Robinson is President & CEO of the Uptown Consortium, Inc. (UCI). UCI plays a pivotal role in advancing the development and direction of the city's fastest growing employment core. Through her aggressive agenda, Beth has leveraged the anchor institution's assets and ecosystem to invest over $400 million in Uptown real estate and economic development projects, inducing over $1 billion in project investments. Today, the Uptown area has transformed into a thriving, multi-dimensional urban district that features world class innovations in health care and education and five diverse, vibrant neighborhoods. During her tenure, local media have called the changes in Uptown, a "renaissance," and UCI received an Excellence in Economic Development Award from the International Economic Development Council.

To UCI, Beth brings more than 25 years of experience in community and economic development. Throughout her career, she has led economic and real estate developments and business retention projects in various roles across the region, including roles with the University of Cincinnati, the City of Cincinnati, the City of Covington, Kentucky and the City of Springdale, Ohio.

Beth is a Certified Economic Developer (CEcD) and received both her undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Cincinnati. She is an active member on multiple boards, including the Hamilton County Development Company, and she is a graduate from the Leadership Cincinnati program in Class 36. Beth is currently a member of the Brookings Executive Program at the Brookings Institute.
