AmeriGas – with headquarters in King of Prussia, Pennsylvania – became a Wisconsin Clean Cities member in 2009. Account Manager Fred Marks serves on the Wisconsin Clean Cities Board of Directors.

Since 1959, the AmeriGas vision has been to provide its customers with the safest, most reliable and most responsive propane service in the nation. The company uses the size of its organization to the customer's advantage every day, while staying true to its grass roots by offering the friendly smiles and personal attention found only at local family businesses.

AmeriGas Propane AutoGas fuels thousands of fleets across the US. Municipalities, commercial fleets, landscaping companies and more rely on on-site and delivery propane solutions from AmeriGas. Propane engines are also cleaner and greener than gasoline engines, provide lower maintenance costs and reduce emissions. Customers can also choose to run a more efficient business by becoming an auto fuel dispenser. With AmeriGas propane filling station equipment, customers can power their AutoGas fleet or add AutoGas refueling services to a gas station's fuel products. AmeriGas can help with site planning to make sure the propane dispensing equipment meets local safety regulations and specifications.

AmeriGas customers choose from multiple delivery and payment options to receive propane when it's best for them. On site cylinder refill, cylinder exchange, bulk tank installations and flexible delivery choices are a few of the options to choose from that ensure service is worry-free. In addition, AmeriGas offers flexible billing and payment programs, from pay-in-advance to online ordering.
