Dear Holy Trinity Folk,

I asked Google AI, "given the weather forecast, should we cancel a meeting on Sunday" its response was:

"Based on the weather forecast for January 25, 2026, in Midland, Texas, you should seriously consider cancelling or moving the meeting to a virtual format due to dangerous, "arctic" conditions.

Here is the breakdown of the forecast for that weekend:

- Dangerous Cold: An arctic front is expected to bring severely cold temperatures, with highs only reaching the upper 20s (around 26°F-28°F) and overnight lows dropping into the low teens (10°F-16°F).
- Winter Precipitation Risk: There is a high likelihood of wintry precipitation (snow/ice) starting Friday evening and lasting through the weekend. While the exact accumulation is still being determined, the combination of sub-freezing temperatures and moisture makes road conditions potentially treacherous.
- Wind Chill: Winds from the northeast will make it feel much colder, increasing the risk of exposure.

Recommendation:
If this is an in-person meeting, the safety risks regarding travel on icy or slushy roads, combined with the extreme cold, suggest that cancelling or switching to virtual is the safest option."

I think AI is on target. The staff and senior warden agree.

We are moving the annual meeting to Sunday, February 1 at noon. The youth will provide the main course for the potluck, and you can bring food as you would for a normal potluck.

Please check your email after 6:00 pm on Saturday, January 24. I will send out an email stating whether or not we will have church on Sunday.

Please be safe. If you lose power or any other need, call me at 334-301-5797, and I'll try to hook you up with someone who can help.
