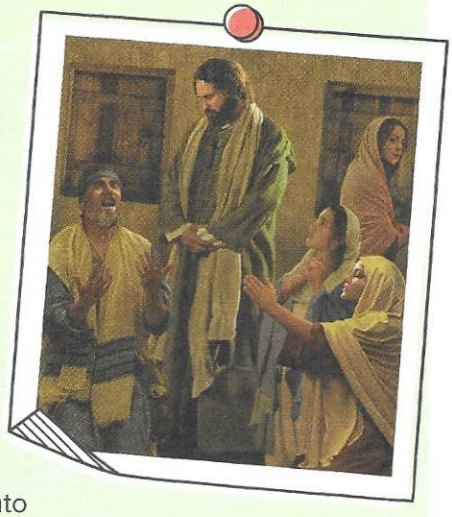
People Prayed for Peter

ACTS 12:1-19



King Herod put Peter in prison. Peter's church friends met together and prayed for Peter.

One night as Peter slept chained between two guards, an angel appeared. "Quick, get up," the angel said. The chains on Peter fell off.

"Get dressed. Put on your sandals and your cloak. Follow me," the angel said. Peter thought he was dreaming, but he followed the angel past the guards, through the prison gates, and into the city.

Then the angel left. Peter realized he was not dreaming. The angel had helped him leave the prison. He quickly went to the house where the church people were praying.

Peter knocked on the door. A servant named Rhoda came to the door and heard Peter's voice. She was so excited that she did not open the door, but ran to tell the people that Peter was there. No one believed her.

Peter kept knocking. Finally they opened the door. The people were surprised to see Peter. Peter told them about the angel and how God had answered their prayers. Then Peter went away to a safe place.
