

We Are Called.....As Lutherans, To Serve With Justice

Calling for justice and proclaiming God's love for the world.

Youth and adults are invited to attend this one-day event where, together, we will engage in conversation about racism and how we as Christians have a unique calling to justice and peace in the world.

After viewing the movie Selma: The Bridge to the Ballot, we will be guided through a discussion of the following:

1. Consider the great value context brings to understanding. Understanding racial context is essential to having helpful conversations about race.
2. Consider how the failure to connect increases all of our suffering. What helps each of us connect with the experiences of our neighbors are their stories.
3. And, we are invited to do this using practice mini-conversations. Using the vocabulary of racial justice when having conversations about racial justice is important.

"The Selma-to-Montgomery legacy includes the sacrifices of young people whose history is seldom told."

Joining us for this event will be Rev. Bishop Herman Yoos from the South Carolina Synod.
