OD YOSEF CHAI

One of the Primary Mitzvos of Purim is "Matanos L'aevyonim" - "Gifts to the poor". Bnai Israel Congregation has a great tradition of partnering with Od Yosef Chai to help impoverished families in Israel. Donations for Od Yosef Chai can be made before or during Purim (Sunday, March 12th). All monies will be tallied and reported to the organization for distribution before the end of Purim. Their deadline is 5:30 PM on Sunday, March 12th. If you wish that your funds be distributed locally, please contact Rabbi Haber. Checks for Od Yosef Chai should be made out directly to them. Checks for the local use should be made to "Bnai Israel - Rabbi's Discretionary Fund".

ANNUAL PURIM EXTRAVAGANZA

This year will once again feature Torah-true Comedy hosted by Sid Bridge with guest appearances including the Daf Yomi Performers and Avi 'the fish' Zysman. As far as the food goes, this year, we are doing things a little different. We will be having a "pop-up" restaurant. Mr. Shwarma will be here, bringing their yummy food with them. Mr. Shwarma will be charging for the food (we're just providing the space and entertainment).

BNAI ISRAEL GENERAL BOARD MEETING

Sunday, March 19th at 6:00 PM

There will be a meeting of the Bnai Israel GENERAL BOARD on next Sunday, March 19th at 6:00 PM. There are many topics to be discussed. A formal agenda will be sent out within the week.

A "SMALL" FUNDRAISER

Years ago, pushkes for Bnai Israel were distributed to the community. There are still a small number of the pushkes available for your home, so you can drop a coin or two in them. You'll be surprised how quickly they can fill up! You don't even have to count the coins if you don't want (although it's a good project to do with your kids), just bring the loose coins into the shul office and we'll do the work for you. If you need a pushke, just contact Michele.

ANNUAL YAK GIFT AUCTION

Sunday, March 26th at 8:00 PM at the home of Laurie Slone

Once again, women are gathering to have a break from cleaning for Pesach to have a good time and to get gifts. Purchase a gift (try to keep it under $20), wrap it really pretty (and put a clue on it - not too hard, but not too easy either) and see how much it goes for! The proceeds will benefit Yeshivas Aish Kodesh.

BNAI ISRAEL FREEZER / WALK-IN

Several months ago, a major clean-out of the Bnai Israel freezer was done and a lot of old (freezer-burned), unmarked food was tossed out of the freezer, and the food was stored in an orderly manner. Well, it seems that things have come full circle. Once again, there are a number of items in the freezer (and walk-in) without names on them. Members of the executive board have taken upon themselves to keep the freezer (and the entire shul, for that matter) in an orderly fashion. If you have items in the freezer, please let Michele know what you have and make sure that it is marked with your name. If not, it will either be used by the shul (i.e., become Hefker) or will be tossed out. You will have till Monday, March 20th). After that date, there will be no guarantees.

NEED MONEY FOR SCHOOL FOR THE 2017-18 ACADEMIC YEAR?

Apply for a JELF Interest-Free Loan for Higher Education Beginning March 1!

Applications for interest-free loans for higher education (college, graduate school and vocational programs) are available to Jewish students in your area for the 2017-2018 school year from JELF (Jewish Educational Loan Fund).

From March 1 – April 30 (and from September 1 – September 30), the loan application is available on JELF's website at jelf.org.

JELF loans are need-based and offer "last-dollar" financing, meaning that JELF provides the final dollars that bridge the gap between a student's total financial resources and the cost of attending school. To qualify, applicants must be:

1. Enrolled full time in a program leading to a degree or certificate at an accredited U.S. institution
2. A U.S. citizen or have lawful immigration status
3. Able to demonstrate financial need (2017 FAFSA application required).

B'NAI TZEDEK TEEN PHILANTHROPY PROGRAM

The Tidewater Jewish Foundation is very excited to debut an exciting new program just for teens! The B'nai Tzedek Teen Philanthropy Program encourages teens to become involved in tzedakah by establishing a fund for Jewish charitable giving. Opening a B'nai Tzedek fund gives your teen a chance to play a part in improving your community and the world. So how does this work?

Donate at least $250 to the Tidewater Jewish Foundation (TJF) in order to establish a fund in the name of your teen! TJF will match your gift with another $250 for a starting fund balance of $500! Your teen can learn about the needs of the Jewish community—locally, in Israel and around the world. Each year, fund holders, your teens, can grant 5% of their fund to a Jewish charity of their choice. In essence, you are empowering your kids to take ownership of their own philanthropy—a valuable lesson that we know pays off! Please contact the Tidewater Jewish Foundation for more information.

Little Things

By Rabbi Yaacov Haber

This week's parsha describes in detail the garb the Kohen had to wear while performing his priestly functions. The purpose of these garments, as explained in the Torah, is "for honor and glory" (Exod. 28:2). If you use any of the wonderful learning aids available today, you can see for yourself in full color how dignified and elegant the Kohen must have looked.

As we read through all the required garb we suddenly come upon a strange requirement—that bells should be attached to the bottom of his tunic. Bells? This is certainly a departure from the royal dignity which characterizes the rest of his clothing. Never has a king, or any dignitary, attached noisy little bells to his garments!

The Ramban concludes that the reason for this is distinct from that for the rest of the garments, and is given in the text itself: so that "its sound will be heard as he approaches the holy place" (28:35). This, explains the Ramban further, is because it is proper etiquette in general to announce oneself before entering a room, by knocking on the door or by making some other form of noise. Hence the bells would ring as the Kohen entered the Holy Place.

In fact, as the Talmud (Pesachim 112) says, one of the seven important instructions R' Akiva gave to his son R' Yehoshua was never to enter even his own home without warning, and, even more so, the home of a neighbor. The Rashbam explains that R' Akiva learned this from the bells the Kohen wore.

Let us try to understand this: we can understand why it would not be right to barge into someone's home, even our own. It could startle or embarrass someone. But how could any of this apply to G-d? How could He not be ready to receive the Kohen in the Sanctuary?

The answer, I believe, is that this is not at all for the sake of G-d, but for our own sake! It should go against one's grain to violate a rule of "derech erez" (good manners) under any circumstances, even where there are no bad consequences on the recipient's side. One must always be a "mensch".

Society seems to forgive certain behavior on the part of our greatest leaders in science or politics. How can someone who is busy finding a cure for AIDS, or organizing an important peace conference, be expected to remember to wipe his feet before walking on the carpet? Many great artists and composers have been known for their short tempers and rudeness, but this "artistic temperament" has usually been accepted as the price others have had to pay for the brilliance the artist was sharing with them. Such scientists, statesmen and artists were considered to be above the usual demands of common courtesy. In the Torah world too this can happen. We can become so engrossed in the big issues of study, prayer and meditation that we lose sight of little areas of social sensitivity.

To all this, the bells of the Kohen ring out an answer. Here we can have the holiest man (the Kohen Gadol) in the holiest place in the world (the Kodesh Kedoshim) on the holiest day of the year (Yom Kippur), who is deep in his thoughts in a world of his own, when suddenly the bells ring to remind him that even he, at such a time and in such a place, must notice the world in which he lives and be sensitive to even the most trivial rules of derech eretz.

When the Steipler Rav of blessed memory passed away, many stories began to circulate about this great genius and tzaddik. One story that stuck in my mind was the following.

There was once a Bar Mitzvah celebration in the Lederman Shul in Bnei Brak. The guests were enjoying themselves when suddenly the Steipler entered the shul! They all jumped to their feet in respect, wondering what he was doing there, and watched in astonishment as the Steipler walked over to the Bar Mitzvah boy and asked him for forgiveness. The lad, shaking, had no idea what the tzaddik meant until he explained.

A year previously, on Yom Kippur, the Steipler had seen the boy in the synagogue, reading from a very large book. He went over to the boy and told him gently that although it is very commendable to study the Talmud, on Yom Kippur one should really be spending one's time in prayer. The boy blushed, and timidly showed the Steipler that the book he was holding was not a Talmud, but indeed a very large Machzor (a chazan's edition). They both returned to their seats, but the Steipler was disturbed. He felt that he had embarrassed the boy unnecessarily (even though he had spoken gently to him), and wanted to beg his forgiveness. However, the boy, being a minor, was not halachically capable of granting such forgiveness, and so the Steipler made a note of the incident, and a year later appeared at the boy's Bar Mitzvah to ask his forgiveness!

The Steipler was the Gadol Hador. People crossed oceans to receive his blessings, and there was not an area of the Talmud in which he was not an expert. And yet, he did not feel that all this greatness exempted him from such trivialities. The reason is that he realized that such "trivialities" are not at all trivial! It was precisely the Steipler's attention to such matters that made him the great and holy man he was.
