Joseph Forgives
His Brothers Genesis 42-45

BOTTOM LINE:

You can trust God no matter what.

MORNING TIME

Before your kid leaves for the day say a quick prayer with them asking God to help them trust Him no matter what happens today.

DRIVE TIME

Next time you're on-the-go together, listen to the new family podcast available to stream through the Parent Cue app and Studio252.tv.

MEAL TIME

Ask a kid: Would you rather let your parents pick out your clothes every day for the rest of your life or let them choose your friends all the way through high school? Why do you trust them more in that area?

Ask a parent: What is the most physically daring thing you've ever done?

BED TIME

Read Genesis 37; 39:1-2. Pray together and ask God to remind you He is always with you—even when you feel alone.

PARENT TIME

Trust comes from understanding that someone else knows more than we do and realizing we can depend on them. It can be difficult for parents to teach trust, but instead parents need to model it. Allow your kids to see you making decisions that show you trust others. Talk with them about who you trust and why. Their trust in others will grow as they see how you trust others.
