

Brief Biography

Donna Gulbinski, Vice President, Compliance Services of Lachman Consultant Services, Inc.

Donna Gulbinski is Vice President in the Compliance Practice at Lachman Consultants who has more than 30 years of experience in pharmaceutical and biopharmaceutical companies where she served as a global quality leader. Her expertise and experience spans worldwide regulatory, quality, compliance, and operations across vaccine, biological, pharmaceutical and medical device technologies. She has provided strategic quality leadership to worldwide manufacturing and supply organizations by establishing systems and processes while engaging others to achieve superior business performance.

For four decades, Lachman Consultants has been the leader in providing cost-effective consultation and remediation services to the worldwide pharmaceutical, biotechnology, biologic, medical device, diagnostic and dietary supplement industries. With its strong and extensive cadre of consultant specialists and an unparalleled management team, its Compliance, Science & Technology, and Regulatory Practices provide the most expert counsel and array of services available. Lachman Consultants is proud of its tradition of supporting industry efforts to develop and ensure safe, effective and high-quality medical products. It remains committed to helping the industry anticipate and address its challenges through the development and implementation of practical, sustainable and cost-effective solutions based on the integration of scientific principles, evolving regulatory expectations, and technology.