Rebooting Communication in Our Hospitals: Better Connections, One Conversation at a Time

Geoff Tumlin, Ph.D., Author, President of On-Demand Leadership and CEO of Mouthpeace Consulting, LLC, Houston, TX

The digital revolution transformed our lives so quickly and thoroughly that we're still scrambling to grasp the changes our powerful new communication tools unleashed on our organizations. The good news is we've barely begun to harness their remarkable potential. To do so, we must reevaluate and reset how we interact with each other. The bad news is that our overreliance on quick and easy means of staying connected is eroding some of our more difficult communication skills. This session delivers the insightful advice and immediately usable strategies we need to realize more of promise from the digital communication revolution in our hospitals.

Learning Objectives

- Understand key digital age communication changes and why they matter
- Apply communication best practices that fit the digital era
- Learn aspirational interaction strategies to increase interpersonal connection

10:10am – 11:00am

Cost-based Payment in the New Value-based Economy

Quang Ngo, EVP, TORCH; President/CEO, TORCH Foundation, Austin, TX

Healthcare is in the midst of unprecedented, untested changes as care delivery and payment reform are shifting reimbursements increasingly to pay-for-value. This session will give an overview of the financial and operational performance of Texas CAHs, including market analysis and outmigration trends, and the conundrum of cost-based reimbursement in the era of value-based payment.

Learning Objectives

- Understand key drivers of change impacting CAHs
- Identify opportunities for financial and operational improvement
- Gain insights into strategies that can help CAHs prepare for and respond to the transition to high value health

11:00am – 11:30am

The Cost of Preventable Harm and It's Impact to Your Organization

Douglas Dotan, President, Pegwin, Bellaire, TX

The cost of preventable harm impacts more than just your bottom line – it constrains growth opportunities and creates undue cost pressure in critical clinical services. Clinical frustrations run high when asked to do more with less and patients continue traveling to urban centers because rural settings can't provide a full-range of service. In this discussion we will quantify the financial burden of preventable harm and illustrate its concentration in the rural settings. We'll also discuss how the principles of High Reliability Organizations (HRO) can help hospitals leverage process improvement to predict and prevent patient harm.

Expected Learning Outcomes

- Sources and financial impact of preventable harm
- Why prevention improves growth prospects and care delivery
- Why 'working harder' won't solve complex prevention problems

Using Huddles for Touchdowns in Quality

Cyndy Dunlap, DNP, RN, NEA-BC, FACHE, Vice President, Clinical Initiatives and Quality, Texas Hospital Association Foundation, Austin, TX

The reputation and continued viability of Critical Access Hospitals is driven through improving the quality and safety of the patients and families served. Hear an update of the quality and patient safety efforts by CAHs in Texas to improve vaccination rates, patient satisfaction and outpatient measures. By the end of the session, you will also gain insights on how some CAHs are using huddles as a high reliability tool to efficiently and effectively drive performance improvement.

Learning Objectives

- Describe the key strategies employed by CAHs to improve vaccination, patient satisfaction, and outpatient measures
- Identify what types and uses huddles have to drive quality and financial performance improvement measures
- Describe how CAHs have implemented huddles within their facilities and the results achieved from deployment of huddles

Legislative Update - What Just Happened? (Part 1)

Don McBeath, Director of Government Relations, TORCH, Austin, TX

The Texas Legislature just concluded its 85th regular session and with the dust settling, we are finally seeing what they did (or didn't do). This will update hospitals on how they will be impacted as well as some insight into the federal health care reform efforts and how rural hospitals fit in.

Learning Objectives

- Learn the impact on Critical Access and other rural hospitals from the recent Texas Legislative session
- Provide information on the recent federal health care reform package passed in the U.S. House of Representatives
- An update on the Texas Medicaid underpayments to Texas rural hospitals

4:00pm - 4:30pm

An Update from the Texas Health and Human Services Commission (Part 2)

Jami Snyder, Associate Commissioner, Medicaid and CHIP, Health & Human Services Commission (HHSC), Austin, TX

The only things certain seems to be uncertainty as everything in Medicaid seems to be changing from the 1115 waiver to how rural hospitals fit into the picture. This update will sketch out the mostly unclear road for Texas.

Learning Objectives

- Update hospitals on HHSC transformation
- Provide current information on status of Texas 1115 waiver extension
- Address the Medicaid underpayment to rural hospitals
