A MOSH Inspection

A MOSH inspection has 3 components: an opening conference, a walk through, and a closing conference. A representative will introduce the three major components of a MOSH inspection and what the employers' role is before, during, and after each inspection. MOSH will also inform employers of each major division within the MOSH organization: compliance and enforcement, training and education, and consultative services. Discussions are focused on the process MOSH uses when conducting a compliance inspection and what to do if you receive a citation. Also, find out what resources are available to employers and employees for promoting safety and health in their workplace.

Workplace Hazard Assessment (WHA)

A workplace hazard assessment is used to identify unsafe conditions within the workplace. This presentation is designed to introduce the participants to the methods used to uncover hazardous work conditions and unsafe practices and replace them with safer processes and procedures. Throughout the procedure, employee involvement in the process is emphasized. Topics to be covered include: identifying which jobs need a job hazard analysis, performing a workplace hazard assessment, and identifying hazards.
