

Oral histories of Kenyan Military Service in WWII

A Kenyan Researcher's Perspective

Victoria Mutheu is a Kenyan farmer, oral historian, and documentarian who is working to record and preserve the experiences of ordinary Kenyan soldiers (and their families) who served in the colonial military during WWII.

Thursday February 22, 4:00 pm
Simon Hall 017

Sponsored by the African & African American Studies Department and the International & Area Studies Program — For more information: tparsons@wustl.edu