LETTER FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Families,

What a fantastic first quarter! We had great all-grade field trips, engaging classroom activities, a strong start to our new CharacterStrong 'kindness' curriculum and an incredible spirit week with our new Eagle mascot, Maxford Brown. If you have not had the opportunity to see the video of Maxford's transformation into the Eckstein Eagle mascot, it can be found on the KOMO website: <https://komonews.com/news/erics-heroes>

The Department of Transportation has also worked with Eckstein to repaint crosswalks, protect the bike lanes and improve signage around our school. Thank you to our PTSA and parents who have worked with administration to advocate for student safety.

There will be no school on Monday in honor of Veterans Day. Today, our Leadership Team, band and staff speakers will honor Veterans at our Veterans Day Assembly. I am proud of the thoughtfulness and hard work our students have shown in their planning.

If you are looking for family activities to do on Veterans Day, there are several activities around the Puget Sound region: <https://www.parentmap.com/article/seattle-family-veterans-day-events-discounts>

As you finalized your Thanksgiving Day plans, please remember that all SPS Middle and High Schools do have school on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of Thanksgiving week and plan accordingly.

Please have a safe and happy three-day weekend and remember, you can keep up on all things 'Eckstein' at #InsideEckstein@Twitter

Do you remember Scholastic Book Orders? I loved them, and they still exist! They have reading clubs for pre-K - 9th grade. If your child's teacher does NOT send book orders home and you want to order books, you can order any book from any Scholastic book order by going to their website: <https://clubs.scholastic.com/> and using this code to link your student to Mrs. Clark: NPKQ2. You can place all orders and purchase books online. Please do not send cash or checks to school. Mrs. Clark will place book orders on November 15. They take about 2 weeks to ship, so they should arrive the week of November 26. Then she will give students requests to reports to come pick up their books. She's always ordering for her own elementary school child, and you can order for all age groups, too. They have board books and early readers, as well as Young Adult Literature. If you are ordering a book as a gift, and don't want your student to know, send Mrs. Clark an email, ttclark@seattleschools.org, and she will arrange a pick up time.
