

NATIONAL ART EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
SHAPING HUMAN POTENTIAL

Deborah B. Reeve, EdD | Executive Director

Dear School Leader:

The National Art Education Association (NAEA) shares your vision for ensuring your students receive the best possible education and that your faculty possess deep knowledge of, and enthusiasm for, teaching and learning.

We understand that educators need to continuously develop new skills and instructional approaches to serve ever diverse populations of students Pre-K through University. That is why we are pleased to announce the gathering of thousands of art educators for the 2019 NAEA National Convention in Boston. This 3-day professional development event will be held March 14-16, 2019.

Diverse professional learning opportunities at the 2019 NAEA National Convention provide more than 1,000 sessions that showcase the latest in research, teaching, and assessment, as well as interactive learning through hands-on workshops and museum and art studio tours. This outstanding event provides a comprehensive opportunity for all educators who are engaged in the arts to experience exemplary examples of best practices and methodologies supported by research. A vibrant, innovative community of more than 5,000 professionals representing art specialists and teachers of the visual arts, school administrators, university professors, researchers, and museum educators will participate—all with the common goal of supporting student learning through art education. And NAEA offers a low registration fee of $175 for members before February 7, 2019.

The program provides 100% education content that can be applied immediately to help advance your school-wide goals. Participating educators can choose to earn professional development hours or university credit through California State University, Chico.

Please accept my gratitude for your leadership as we work together to ensure equity and access to a quality, well-rounded education for all of our nation's students. Thank you in advance for any support you might provide for participation by one or more members of your faculty.

Sincerely,

Deborah B. Reeve, EdD
Executive Director