2017-18 Theme: Know God

May Theme Verse:

May 9, 2018

O God, from my youth you have taught me, and I still proclaim your wondrous deeds.
Psalm 71:17 ESV

Devotional

“From my youth You have taught me.” What an awesome heritage! How does God teach a child? Primarily, God teaches children by their parents. Secondly, God teaches children through their school and church, with the former having much more influence than the latter. What is the child learning from God? Who He is, who the child is, and why he or she needs God. What is the curriculum? The Bible, God’s creation, and Believers. My parents were not wealthy or well educated. They did possess, however, an intense passion to teach their five children about God. I can say with the Psalmist that from my youth God has taught me. I continue to benefit from my rich heritage. Is God teaching your children daily? Are you their primary teacher?

Eternally His, Ed Hubbard, Business Manager

Fabulous Learning

Mrs. Bibby's students in science classes researched ocean animals. To present their findings they had to organize, adapt, and creatively communicate information in a flipbook.

Mr. Barnhart's U.S. History students had to be actively and respectfully engaged in classroom discussion regarding the civil rights. They showed great maturity and responsibility in their ability to talk through many social issues. -Mr. Barnhart

For Mrs. Francis' STEM project last week, students planned a camping trip. Their first task was to plan breakfast, lunch, and dinner for two days of camping. Then students had to "buy" the food, as well as all of their camping supplies for two people, with a budget of $500. -Mrs. Francis CLICK HERE

Miss Sierra's physics students hit the pavement. Students had to search the campus to find pictures of the characteristics of light, such as shadow, translucent, virtual, concave, etc.

Third graders had a great experience attending Rowell Ranch Agricultural Day! We learned how to milk a cow, and about the products made from cow's milk. We learned about bees, plants, farm to table food, how to spin wool into yarn, and we practiced roping a steer. Many of our third graders helped to load bales of hay onto the hay truck and then they unloaded the bales of hay. At the end of the day we were tired and happy.
