2017-18 Theme: Know God

October Theme Verse:

October 18, 2017

We will not hide them from their children, but tell to the coming generation the glorious deeds of the Lord, and His might, and the wonders that He has done - Psalm 78:4

Devotional

I love the relationship between Psalm 78:4 and the field of education. Each concentration, each subject, each concept covers tells our students the glorious and wonderful deeds of the Lord. As we study history, we see His hand and His sovereignty. As we study mathematics, we see that our God is a God of order. As we study science, we experience the wonder of our world and His creation. As educators, we have a responsibility to use our position and our subject matter to point our students to God. Psalm 19:1 speaks about the world around us declaring His handiwork. By sharing His deeds, His might, and His wonders, we can lead others towards Christ and the eternal relationship that He offers. When we pass these concepts down to the next generation, we hope to create a foundation that results in a continual passing down from generation to generation.

In Christ, Evan Barnhart, Director of RCS Global

Mr. Hearne's Recommended Resources:

When is the last time you heard, "I need more sleep." Sleep is vitally important for our overall health. Sleep is when God allows our brains to reset. It's vitally important that we as parents both model good sleep habits for our children as well as help our children develop their own good sleep habits. My first two recommended resources are about the benefits and necessity of sleep: "Sleep Deprived Kids Need More Rest" from Focus on The Family and "Why Are Teenagers So Sleep Deprived" from Child Mind Institute. My third resource is the "Axis Cultural Translator" to keep you up to date on what's happening in our culture and why it's important.

Fabulous Learning

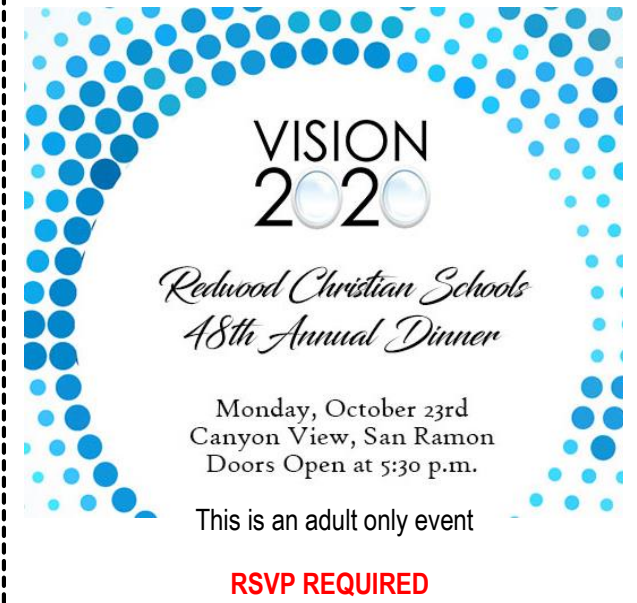

I enjoyed watching my HS Algebra students get excited about playing Kahoot with solving simple equations and Math vocabulary. When we were finished, one student said, "Miss Humphreys, you tricked us. Making us have fun while doing Math!" - Miss Humphreys

This week the 9th graders presented each other to the class in speeches about that person, his/her name, the origin of his/her name and lots of information that was shared - plus a poster of each person's name. Fun facts were divulged (and lots of laughs) as each person presented. - Mrs. Magee

The "bookends" of Redwood Elementary worked together this week. Fifth grade members of the Leadership Team came to work with TK students using Language Arts and Math activities. It built unity on our campus and allowed the TK students to experience many different ways of learning basic skills. - Mrs. Conley

8th Grade U.S. History students made 1780s vintage newspapers designed to show the issues surrounding the writing of the U.S. Constitution. - Mr. Gillette

My students turned in some amazing images of either Chillingworth or Dimmesdale's heart from "The Scarlet Letter." This was a whole-brain activity in which students were asked to analyze the literature and present it in a creative way. - Mrs. Cherry
