Exploring Bias in the Workplace

Join us in this interactive 3-hour workshop to discover your personal biases. We'll begin by defining bias. Then, we'll give you a context to explore biases and how they show up in your workplace. We will offer some tips and tools for recognizing when you are operating in your biases and how you can shift them.

Human beings are meaning making machines. We are wired to create biases. Biases are both implicit and explicit. They influence our perceptions and interactions with everyone in our workplace - co-workers and consumers.
