May Marks the Beginning

Different shades of green fill the landscape with verdant mountain ridges and lush pastures. With April showers and warm sunny days, vibrant flower blossoms have exploded and Saluda is returning to its springtime magic.

Returning "summer folks" from the low country are opening their Saluda homes this month. This has been an annual tradition since the late 1800's when folks from the low country would travel on the train to their mountain homes in the summer for cooler weather.

White tents filled with colorful fine art and crafts will line Main Street when Saluda celebrates its art culture on May 20. The 14th annual Saluda Arts Festival will host more than 75 artists participating from all over the region.

Saludians are looking forward to the opening of the Saluda Tailgate Market on Friday, May 5 and are eager to meet and greet local farmers and growers and to buy early local produce and products.

Green River Adventures will host once again a "Spring Green Bash" on May 6 and Saluda Outfitters will hold its grand opening.

The beginning of Saluda's spring and summer season is always filled with anticipation!

the Patio

5:00 – 9 Full Dinner Menu
Wednesday & Sunday
11:00 AM – 3:00 PM

Please note both Sunday and Wednesday hours will be for lunch only. Although we are typically open for lunch and dinner on Wednesdays beginning May 1, we have so far been unable to hire enough staff to cover the additional hours and are unwilling to compromise quality of service and product. If and when sufficient employees are found, we will reopen for the entire day from 11 AM until 9 PM. Please check our website for updates.

SOL DRIVEN TRAIN SUNDAY, May 7 at 7:00 PM.

The Purple Onion is pleased to welcome back Sol Driven Train on Sunday, May 7 at 7:00 PM. The doors open at 5:00 PM. Admission is $20 in advance and $25 at the door for a limited seating show. Pizza and appetizers will be available prior to the concert with beverages and desserts served throughout the evening. Tickets are available online or call 828-749-1179 for reservations. We accept Visa, Master Card, American Express or Discover.

Sol Driven Train's music weaves through genres like images in a Tom Robbins paragraph. The band's playful sonic schizophrenia absorbs songwriting influences like John Prine and Paul Simon, Afrocaribbean rhythmic explorations, and funky New Orleans-style brass into earnest songs of life, love, loss, and long Johns. The versatile 6-piece band, based in Charleston, SC, features rotating lead vocalists, and multi-instrumental talent spread across horns, strings, and percussion. Combining rich varieties of American pop and folk music into their own brass-kickin' roots rock sound, Sol Driven Train has carved out a unique musical identity within the Jam and Americana music scene. Their music and live shows are filled with a spirit of positivity and joy, even while traversing subjects of suffering and death.

Sol Driven Train is a band in motion. At shows, the band members bounce to the pulse of the music along with the crowd. Stylistically the band "seamlessly mixes Allmanesque Southern rock, languid world-beat, swampy funk and downright catchy melodies as they swap lead singers and instruments. A punchy horn section adds an extra dimension of sweaty soul to the genre-blurring jam party" (Atlanta Creative Loafing).

Employment Opportunities

The Purple Onion is currently searching for line cooks and prep cooks to join our team. We are willing to train but will give preference to applicants with restaurant experience. We are looking for employees with great attitudes and a willingness to work hard in a fun, fast paced environment. Reliable transportation is a must. Compensation is competitive and a complementary meal is served at each shift. Please send your resume to thepurpleonionsaluda@gmail.com or stop by between 2-4 pm daily to fill out an application.

Jim Carson, AIS Painting the Town/Mastering The Cityscape June 8-10, 2017 Thursday-Saturday

Since the Impressionists first moved outside and began painting from life, the design, allure, and light of the city have captivated painters, from the cafes in Paris to Main Street, Saluda.

Jim Carson, AIS, will offer a workshop titled "Painting the Town/ Mastering the Cityscape" on Thursday-Saturday, June 8-10, 2017. In this indoor workshop, we will learn to simplify the shapes and design of the city, in order to paint it in a fresh and spontaneous manner, instead of stiff and lifeless. There will be a brief, but helpful, discussion on perspective on the first day.

The workshop is open to all levels, from beginners to advanced. A list of paint selections, brushes, etc. will be furnished after registration.

Jim is a member of Plein Air Painters of the Southeast (PAPSE), an Associate member of Oil Painters of America, and a Signature Member of the American Impressionist Society. Jim was the Awards Judge for the plein air festival, "Artists on Location/Knoxville," in Knoxville, Tn. April 26-29.

Saluda Center News

(All events and activities take place at the Saluda Center on Greenville Street.) For information about renting the facility, please call 828-749-9245.

The Saluda Center Book Club will meet on Thursday, May 4 at 2 pm to discuss Being Mortal by Atul Gawande. All are welcome.

Atul Gawande , tackles the hardest challenge of his profession: how medicine can not only improve life but also the process of its ending.

Medicine has triumphed in modern times, transforming birth, injury, and infectious disease from harrowing to manageable. But in the inevitable condition of aging and death, the goals of medicine seem too frequently to run counter to the interest of the human spirit. Nursing homes, preoccupied with safety, pin patients into railed beds and wheelchairs. Hospitals isolate the dying, checking for vital signs long after the goals of cure have become moot. Doctors, committed to extending life, continue to carry out devastating procedures that in the end extend suffering.

Gawande, a practicing surgeon, addresses his profession's ultimate limitation, arguing that quality of life is the desired goal for patients and families. Gawande offers examples of freer, more socially fulfilling models for assisting the infirm and dependent elderly, and he explores the varieties of hospice care to demonstrate that a person's last weeks or months may be rich and dignified.

Full of eye-opening research and riveting storytelling, Being Mortal asserts that medicine can comfort and enhance our experience even to the end, providing not only a good life but also a good end.

The Social Singles of Saluda Potluck Dinner will be Thurs., May 11 at 5pm. Our group is for men and women over the age of 40. If you have a partner or are separated, we consider you single. ### Saluda Train Tales May 19, 7pm Saluda: From Top to Bottom Matt Bumgarner

Matt Bumgarner is an award-winning writer and the regional publisher of Tarheel Press dedicated to profiling the history of North Carolina. His books combine an in-depth approach with a readable style of regional heritage, railroad history, or the Civil War. Matt published *Saluda:
 From Top to Bottom* November, 2015.

He will present the research and stories behind the book which is the first major publication on the grade and railroad in more than thirty years and goes deeper than any previous work. He will describe his exploration of the early history of the railroad's formation, debunks the myths surrounding early engineering staffs and feats, and places the construction of the line in the context of railroad expansion in the era.

Along the way, the author examines in detail the sacrifices of convict labor (while paying homage to the specific men who died building the railroad), the rise of tourism in Western North Carolina, and the transformation of the railroad industry over the course of the last 150 years.

This volume is the definitive work on the history of the Saluda grade and the A&S Railroad. It will be essential to any student of railroading history, local heritage, and fans of the Southern Railway & Norfolk Southern. The books will be available for purchase.

Saluda Train Tales is held at the Saluda Historic Depot, 32 W Main St., Saluda, NC. Doors open at 6:30. Presentation from 7pm to 8pm.

Saluda Tailgate Market

Saluda Tailgate Market Opens for 2017 Season on Friday, May 5
 May- October Fridays, 4:30-6:30

It's here! It's May! That beautiful month we've all been waiting for.
 Flowers bloom and leaves unfurl
 so fast you could watch it happen
 if you could sit still long enough.
 But don't sit on Friday afternoons.
 Grab your basket, don your hat and make your way down the sidewalk on West Main to the Saluda Tailgate market. Welcome in the first spring produce, greet your friends and neighbors, and hug your farmers. They have been planning through the winter and working their soil through the early spring cold days in anticipation of your visit to the market. Come see what they have to offer and celebrate spring with us. Make your shopping list and plan to pick up some starter plants for your own garden.
 Opening day is Friday, May 5, rain or shine. See you at the market for the beginning of our 8th season!

If you would be interested in vending at our market, please send questions to:
info@saludatailgate.com.
 Information, application, and rules and regulations are posted at: saludatailgate.com.

The Saluda Tailgate Market is friendly and well attended. The community of Saluda lends its full the season. It is sponsored by the Saluda Business Association, the City of Saluda, and Polk County Agricultural Economic Development.

Walks in the Woods

May 7 – Missing 40

1 mile loop of moderate walking 1-2 hours. Water shoes recommended. The trailhead is located on Pearson Falls Road just above the new concrete bridge over the North Pacolet River. The trail is well blazed, kid and pet friendly, and has several easy water crossings.

May 21 – Big Bradley

1-2 mile moderate 2 hour

exploration of Cove Creek leading downstream to the overlook to Big Bradley Falls. It is a moderate walk with stream crossings. Wear water shoes. Again, dogs and kids love it!

June 4 – Little Bradley

2 mile moderate out and back of 2 hours along Cove Creek to the falls with a nice pool at the bottom. Dogs and kids love this spot!

Walkers meet 2pm at the parking lot of the Saluda Library. A SCLT member will keep you aware of the terrain of the trail and share their insights about the history, flora, and fauna of the area as they lead each walk. Prepare for each walk with comfortable shoes, a walking stick, water, and a snack. Please provide any pertinent medical history to your guide. Many of these hikes will access private property.

Swimming Lessons

Brian Lilburn from Aqua Child will be returning this June to teach swimming lessons at Wilkes Twin Lakes. Thanks to a grant from the Polk County Community Foundation, there will be no charge for the classes. Classes will start June 19, and run 3 weeks through July 7. Classes will be held 5 days a week, Monday through Friday starting at 9AM each morning. There will be two instructors this year and both swimming and stroke lessons will be taught. For further information and how to enroll your child online, please send an email to dlpwoodturner@gmail.com.

Find out more about the program at aquachild.com.

Moody Property

Work at the Moody House

continues, we are scheduling volunteer days for 1st

Tuesday, May 2nd, and 1st Saturday, May 6th starting around 10 am. We will focus our efforts on the landscaping this month. If you have time to offer other than these dates, please call John Savage, 828-749-3906.

Kudzu and Other Invasives

We at SCLT are still working on removing kudzu. Our prime site is Judd's Peak Lookout. We are slowly working our way down the hill. The area where we cleared the kudzu has become a milkweed garden. When the kudzu is removed, many native plants spring up. In the past, we have sprayed this area with kudzu specific herbicide and now we are removing the crown from the root of the plant. This can be done anytime of the year. If you are interested in learning to decrown or just want to help us, please call the office and we will get back to you.

Weather permitting, work days will begin at 9am the second and fourth Thursdays of the month. In May, we will meet the 11th and the 25th.

Twin Lakes is Ready to Reserve

Fats, Oils, and Grease Information

Fats, oils and grease do not belong in the sewer or your septic tank. While pouring hot water and detergent into the drain along with your grease may allow it to pass into your line, the grease will re-form into a solid lump as it cools, blocking either your home's sewer pipes or the main sewer system, or your septic tank.

- Never pour fats, oils and grease down the sink or garbage disposal.
- Before washing, scrape and dry wipe pots, pans, and dishes with a paper towel and dispose of them in the trash—mixing these with absorbent waste such as paper towels, kitty litter, coffee grounds or shredded newspaper will help prevent leakage from trash bags.

Blockages in the main sewer line can lead to spills which are hazardous to health and to the environment. Removal of grease blockages and the cleanup associated with sewage spills is very expensive and may result in liability and property damages.

Blockages in your own sewer line or septic tank can lead to wastewater backing up into your home or business, spilling out onto the streets and even finding its way into storm drains. The property owner will either need to perform do-it-yourself maintenance, or to hire a plumber to clear the blockage. Cleanup can be expensive for homeowners and even more so for businesses, which can also be subject to fines and closures.

Before attempting to unblock clogged sewer lines, we request that you notify us in advance. Often, a grease ball is cleared from a property owner's pipe system only to move out into the street and cause a clog in the main sewer system. Such a clog can result in a sewage spill from a manhole.

Saturday, June 3, 2017, Historic Saluda Tour of Homes will Feature Shand Hill

The Historic Saluda Committee will sponsor a Tour of Homes on Saturday, June 3, 2017, from 1 - 5 p.m., as a fundraiser for preservation projects in Saluda.

Historic Shand Hill has been chosen as the site of this year's tour. There will be five homes on Shand Hill to visit as well as the Saluda Historic Depot, the Saluda Presbyterian Church, and Lola's Celebration Venue at Historic Thompson's Store, all within walking distance of each other.

Tickets are $20 each and will be available at City Hall, Saluda Historic Depot and Heartwood Gallery in Saluda beginning May 1. Parking is available at city parking lots and the Saluda Community Library. There will also be a shuttle van to take you to Shand Hill from the library. This is a walking tour, with limited golf cart assistance, if needed.

Shand Hill has some of the earliest summer homes built in Saluda, and the Shand home that will be featured on the 2017 tour is supposedly the second summer home built in Saluda. For many years in Saluda, the Summer People meant the people from the low country and midlands of South Carolina or Georgia who came year after year to stay in houses built on the hills above town. The venues featured on the 2017 tour are as follows:

Ivy Terrace – The McGuire Family

Built around 1890 by Captain William Hinson of Charleston, SC, Ivy Terrace has been expanded, remodeled, and redecorated a number of times without destroying the original charm and soundness of its construction. It was enlarged, with a second floor added, and run as a boarding house in the 1930s and '40s by the Clippards. The current owners purchased Ivy Terrace in 1991. Many of the original materials were retained or repurposed when the house was renovated in 1991-1993. The trees on the property were likely planted in the 1890s when the Biltmore House was being landscaped with some of the same species. The Pacolet Area Conservancy has included nine trees at Ivy Terrace on their Treasured Tree List. And the ivy continues to be a feature of the property.

Meadowhill Farm – The Nelson Family

This property, known as Meadowhill Farm, was originally a working farm owned by one of the many Thompson families of Saluda. The exact date of the building of the original Meadowhill house is unknown, but there is evidence that it was constructed about 1870. In 1885 Robert Shand's wife, Louisa, purchased the Thompson farm property for the purpose of building a summer home, which was built in 1886 or 1887. The log cabin on the farm, located just across the road from the newly constructed house, was used as the kitchen for the new summer residence. The Nelson family of South Carolina purchased the original log cabin and surrounding farm property in 1972. The Nelsons have made additions to the 1870 cabin, making every effort not to alter its character.

Shand Family House – The Shand Family, Robert

Wallace Shand and Mrs. Shand, of Columbia, SC built the Shand house in 1887. James Blythe, a well-known Baptist preacher and his wife Martha, conveyed 17 acres of land to Mrs. C. Shand and her husband Robert, in 1885, to be used as the site for a summer home. The house, known then as "The Eyrie," was built on the point of the hill overlooking the railroad. The log cabin across the street, now owned by the Nelson family, was used as the kitchen. The house was known to be the second oldest summer house built in Saluda and may be the oldest summer house still standing. Robert's grandson, Julian Bonham Shand, Sr., acquired the property from his siblings in the early 1970s and undertook a renovation to its current condition. Julian's descendants now own the house.

The Saluda Big House – Big House Partnership

The current owners trace its history back to the 1800s. The house remains essentially unchanged in its outside appearance in the years from its first written record in 1889, when John and Margaret Bone sold the property to the Krackes, who summered there until 1918. At the end of World War I, the property sold to Henry and Eva Davis of Columbia, SC for $670. Five years later, the property sold for $2000 to Cecil and Myriam Robinson of New Orleans. The Robinsons hired prominent Polk County Contractor William L. Thompson to reconfigure the first floor and finish the second floor for $3603, creating the house you see today. Esther Teal Efird bought the house on sight in 1956 from the Robinson estate for $11,000. Esther left the house to her three children, among whom was Louise Efird Johnson. Louise's children formed the Saluda Big House Partnership in 1986 so that they could continue enjoying this home on Shand Hill.

Bon Air – The Gause Family

The Gause house, known as "Bon Air," was built for Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Whaley of Edisto Island and Wadmalaw Island in Berkeley County, SC. The land was purchased from David and Sallie Pope for $50 in 1886. The Whaleys started construction of a three story house, which originally consisted of the present living room which was divided into a bedroom to the south of the present fireplace, a parlor or dog trot through the middle and a bedroom on its north. There were four bedrooms on the second floor and two on the third. In the following year they added the rear wing consisting of the dining room and porch on the first floor and a bedroom and sleeping porch on the second. The kitchen was a separate building, which was situated approximately where the garage is located. The furniture for the entire house was bought in Charleston and sent to Saluda by rail. There was no inside plumbing or electricity in the house until it was bought by Dr. Elton S. Osborne in 1925. The Gause family purchased the house from Dr. Osborne's descendants in 1993.

Saluda Historic Train Depot Built in 1903 on Highway

176 about ¼ mile past the bridge, the Saluda Historic Train Depot is on the National Registry of Historic Places. It has a long history in Saluda, including its eventual move from the original location to its current location on Main Street. In June of 2016, after an 18 month journey, a group of citizens in Saluda organized and created a 501(c) 3 non-profit LLC, named the Saluda Historic Depot (SHD) to purchase the building and create a train and heritage museum. The museum recently opened two exhibits: a new G-Scale Southern Railroad Livery track with a locomotive and cars running the perimeter of the main passenger area, and How the West Was Won permanent display. Check out the current exhibits and events at saludahistoricdepot.com

Saluda Presbyterian Church

The Saluda Presbyterian Church was built between 1895 and 1896 as a multid denominational community church with funding from residents and summer people. It became a Presbyterian church in 1914. The Tryon Presbyterian Church donated the pews in the early 1940s, and the antique pulpit came from a South Carolina church that had closed. The sanctuary of the church remains a well-preserved example of late nineteenth century vernacular Gothic Revival. The weather-boarded structure features a gable front, a corner two-stage entrance tower, a shallow rear apse, and pointed arched windows. Such details as carved rafter ends, decorative eaves, brackets on the tower, decorative bracing at the front gable peak above a quatrefoil roundel, and a double leaf entrance surmounted by a decoratively carved triangular pediment, greatly enliven the exterior. Just south of the church and mimicking it in general design is the education building built in the early 1950s.

Historic Thompson's Store and Lola's Celebration Venue

Lola's Celebration Venue is located upstairs above

Historic Thompson's Store, the oldest grocery store in North Carolina, est. 1890. Constructed in 1905, the building originally served as a boarding house for the tough and hardy railroad workers who maintained the Saluda Grade, the steepest mainline railroad in the United States. While the railroad was crucial to the growth of Saluda, support also came from numerous wealthy families from the lowlands of South Carolina and Georgia. These families built summer homes in Saluda, seeking relief in the cool North Carolina mountains during the hottest months of the year. The room names at Lola's are a tribute to the communities from which many of those wealthy families came — Charleston, Columbia, Holly Hill, and Walterboro in South Carolina and Savannah in Georgia.

The Historic Saluda Committee, which was formed in June 2010, has completed four major projects, collects and archives historical photos, documents and artifacts and continues to coordinate the biennial Saluda Historic Tour of Homes. ## MountainTrue Announces Green Riverkeeper at 11th Annual Spring Green Bash

MountainTrue is pleased to announce that Gray Jernigan, MountainTrue's Southern Regional Director, is now also the new Green Riverkeeper and will serve as a fundamental protector of the Green River watershed. MountainTrue's riverkeeper programs are key to our endeavors to monitor and protect the quality of our region's waterways.

MountainTrue is one of the few organizations in the nation with four Waterkeeper Alliance programs, also hosting the French Broad Riverkeeper, the Watauga Riverkeeper and the Broad River Alliance.

Green Riverkeeper Gray Jernigan showing off the trophies and prizes for volunteers participating in the Green River Spring Cleaning on April 8.

Quote from Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., president of Waterkeeper Alliance:

"Waterkeeper Alliance is thrilled to have Gray Jernigan to be the eyes, ears, and voice for this vital watershed and community. Every community deserves to have swimmable, drinkable and fishable water, and Gray is the right leader to fight for clean water in the region."

Gray Jernigan has extensive experience in environmental law, policy, and advocacy and has worked on land and water conservation issues across the state. He adds his Green Riverkeeper responsibilities to his ongoing role as MountainTrue's Southern Regional Director, serving Henderson, Polk, Rutherford and Transylvania counties. Gray received his undergraduate degrees from University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and earned a master's degree and a law degree from Vermont Law School.

The Green Riverkeeper got a head start on April 8 by partnering with the Green River paddling community on a clean-up effort covering the Upper, Narrows and Lower Green sections. Over 50 people turned out to clear trash and debris from the river and its banks. Car tires, a home water heater, and assorted trash and litter were enough to overflow a dumpster, not including recyclables that were separated!

Gray will be present to meet the community at the 11th Annual Spring Green River Bash at Green River Adventures in Saluda on Saturday, May 6. Fifty percent of the ticket price for river, zipline, and rappelling trips booked for the day of the festival will be donated by Green River Adventures and The Gorge to help fund the work of the Green Riverkeeper. Book your trip for May 6 at greenriveradventures.com with the code: GREENRIVERKEEPER

Event Details:

What: 11th Annual Spring Green Bash

Who: presented by Green River Adventures and sponsored by Oskar Blues Brewery, Prestige Subaru, WNCW and Liquidlogic Kayaks. Music by the Honeycutters. A portion of proceeds benefit MountainTrue's Green Riverkeeper.

Where: Green River Adventures, 111 E. Main Street, Saluda, NC
When: Saturday, May 6, 5:30-9 p.m.

Quote from Gray Jernigan, the Green Riverkeeper:

"I'm thrilled to get such a warm welcome to the community from Green River Adventures and all the generous sponsors of the Green Spring Bash, including Oskar Blues, Prestige Subaru, WNCW and Liquidlogic Kayaks. We have a lot of great activities and programs planned for the year ahead; I'm looking forward to meeting some folks and getting people involved in protecting the Green River."

Quote from Julie Mayfield, co-director of MountainTrue:

"MountainTrue is proud of our partnership with the Waterkeeper Alliance. Our Riverkeepers fight for safe and healthy waterways for all citizens of their watersheds by bringing together and empowering local residents and communities to identify pollution sources, advocate for and enforce environmental laws, and engage in restoration. We're thrilled to be bringing this program to our Green River communities."

Quote from Marc Yaggi, executive director of Waterkeeper Alliance:

"Gray will have an incredibly important job. Waterkeepers defend their communities against anyone who threatens their right to clean water, from law-breaking polluters to irresponsible government officials. Until our public agencies have the means necessary to protect us from polluters, and the will to enforce the law, there will always be a great need for people like Gray to fight for our right to clean water."

Upcoming Riverkeeper Projects and Events:

- May 27 - Big Hungry River clean-up
- July 5 - Come help clean up Lake Summit

MountainTrue is home to the Broad River Alliance, French Broad Riverkeeper, Green Riverkeeper and Watauga Riverkeeper - the protectors and defenders of their respective watersheds. mountaintrue.org

About Waterkeeper Alliance:

Through Our Eyes As Seen Through Saluda School Kids

We hope you enjoy this new series of stories written by Saluda School students.

Katelyn

Hi! My name is Katelyn. I am a 3rd grader. Recently my class created a mandala. By making a mandala we create our own sacred space, a place of protection, a focus for concentration of our energies.

For this Art project I traced my hand four times to represent North, South, East and West.

As Americans we unite in peace, harmony and love.

My selected colors are "warm": red, yellow and orange. They remind me of our planet Earth.

Radial art is round. A circle that never ends.

The Write Stuff

This is a new column to feature Saluda's writers and authors. Writers can announce new books, excerpts from their work, or short stories. Please submit to info@SaludaLifestyles.com

Wilmot B. Irvin

Wilmot Irvin is a lawyer by day and a novelist by night. He has published six novels. He and his family spend quality time at their home on Walnut Street in Saluda.

Born in 1950, Wilmot B. Irvin received his undergraduate degree in English literature and law degree from the University of South Carolina. He served in judicial clerkships for a South Carolina Supreme Court Justice and a Senior United States District Judge and has practiced law for nearly forty years.

He began writing fiction in his late forties and has published four full-length novels, a novella, and a novelette. He was chosen as an author presenter at the 2010 South Carolina Book Festival and served as an author panel moderator at the 2011 Festival. When they are not in Saluda, the author and his wife, Jeannie, live in Columbia, South Carolina with their nine-year-old son. They have three grown children and a grandson.

His first novel, Jack's Passage, is a coming-of-age tale set partially in the fictional mountain town of Ozone, NC, which bears a striking resemblance to Saluda. Robert Pace sold hundreds of copies of this novel and Mr. Irvin's other books out of his store on Main Street in Saluda.

The author's works explore human relationships. Fear and love, loss and fulfillment, evil and redemption, guilt and deliverance are themes that frequent his evocative and colorful stories, populated by interesting characters poignant in their struggles and triumphs.

Saluda Wedding

Doesn't anybody besides me remember the nineties hit song "Butterfly Kisses"? Well, you had to be there, I guess, to understand. When our daughters were middle-schoolers, this little ditty hit the airwaves and millions of dads like me shed secret tears whenever some FM disc jockey sent it our way. Syrupy, sentimental, bittersweet – but exactly what us millions of dads yearned to hear. Our little girls were growing up, and one day we would have to let them go, turn them over to another man whom they loved as much as they loved us – maybe more – but in a fundamentally different way. One such letting-go and turning-over happened to me last Labor Day weekend, in a town that just about all who are reading this little essay will call home, or second home, or heaven: Saluda, North Carolina, not to be confused with South Carolina. Our little girl tied the knot at our old mountain house in the place we call Jeannie's Spot, on Walnut Street in heaven, uh, Saluda, I mean. That street is not paved in gold, but the dirt and gravel do just fine, thank you, and the view is, well, heavenly. It is fitting that our daughter and her husband-to-be chose this venue for their wedding, because Saluda chose me when I was a child, many more years ago than I like to count now. My grandparents had what was then called a summer house on Chisolm up above Main Street. I still recall the thrill of leaving Columbia and my parents behind, riding the old square-wheeler to the quaint mountain town at the top of the grade, where my grandmother waited patiently at the depot to greet me; spending long, lazy summer weekends prowling around the old town, visiting Pace's Store with my grandfather and listening to mountain men swap stories; gulping milkshakes and gorging on cheeseburgers at Ward's Grill; visiting Pearson's Falls and splashing in the dark clear chilly pools at the base of the falls, while the grown-ups grilled hotdogs on one of those Arthur Godfrey miniature charcoal grills: Saluda, circa 1950s.

There are two kinds of people in this world. One batch can take or leave Saluda, but the better group consists of folks who in some inexplicable way are vitally attached to the old town and its environs and to the interesting persons who inhabit it. Maybe it's in our DNA. Whatever the cause, I sure am grateful the Lord predestined me to membership in the latter category.

It was a small wedding, mostly family on both sides. Boy did I pray for a beautiful Saturday. And girl did I ever get it: a picture-perfect day all around with plenty of sunshine, Carolina blue sky, a nice gentle zephyr that kept the late-summer bugs at bay, little-to-no humidity, and a late afternoon sun nestling down behind the trees, sending out shoots of soft golden rays in every direction.

The ceremony took place at six o'clock in our back yard, and of course my wife had it decorated to the nines, as if the Lord's green grass and shady trees and flowering plants needed all those human touches. And the groom's mom and her man erected a splendid arch, which they wrapped in beautiful fresh greenery and flowers. The minister and his wife are friends of the bride and groom, and the service and the homily were personal and moving and inspiring. I noticed during the exchange of the rings that another man – on the groom's side – was having a little trouble with his tear ducts, too.

The reception was a thing to behold. It started in our kitchen and spread like molasses into the living room and the dining room and out onto the porches and the patio and over the lawn. Susan and Chambli were in charge of the sumptuous food and the impeccable service, and Mary Ann supplied the beverages. And the absolutely splendid wedding cake was created, baked and decorated by that nice lady at the Saluda Grade. You see, it was a purely local event. And if you think Charleston or Columbia or Greenville can wine and dine you and your guests in elegant style and with haute cuisine, you'd be right. But it doesn't get any better than the Purple O's grilled beef tenderloin with horseradish crème, plank-smoked wild salmon, and plenty of fresh local vegetables and fruits with mango cream dressing – not to mention the shrimp bruschetta with avocado they passed around for appetizers and the key lime pie and blackberry cobbler they laid out on the dessert table, next to the champagne and wedding cake.

Entrusting the festivities to friends and neighbors in Saluda who know how to do things right was the first and best decision we made. From the invitations to the photography and everything in between, we sourced locally, as they say. And with lots of candid advice from friends like Judy Ward we pulled it off without a hitch: Now that's a Saluda wedding.

I should have told you more about my daughter, who I am so proud of. She loves this part of the world as much or more than I do. She and her husband, a photographer par excellence, live in Mars Hill outside of Asheville, in something they call a treehouse. But don't get me started on that subject, unless Cathy Jackson wants me to write another little essay. In the meantime I plan to attend my daughter's commencement exercises in May – she will receive her Master's degree from Lenoir-Rhyne University – and maybe I'll get a few of those old butterfly kisses if I behave myself. And if you need a really, really good photographer to take a picture of just about anything you desire, check out our son-in-law at www.jeffwalesphotography.com.

We're sourcing locally, and hope you will, too.

The Graydons, Columbia People

The Columbia people in Saluda all feel the same way. They feel so blessed that they know about Saluda, that they have to celebrate this feeling about every seven days by sharing their pantries and their hearts with everybody they know.

The Graydons were typical and maybe the most gracious of all. Not slighting anyone else. The Graydons were Mr. Clint Graydon, his wife Raven, son Gus, and daughters Madge and Sarah. Mr. Graydon came up on Saturday and brought a total barbecue and pig picking with him. He was a criminal lawyer and brought some of his ex-clients to do the cooking and fixin', and they knew how.

Mr. Graydon's parties had an open bar before supper and at 7:30 p.m. the bar closed and we all ate supper. The drinking was over, and I admired that.

Mrs. Graydon was the best square dance partner I ever had who was older than I. Her boy Gus was one of everybody's best friends and captured many a young audience with his superior wit. The two girls were lovely, but a little bit young.

I saw Madge two summers ago, and I got a big hug. Her children had brought her to Saluda for her birthday, because when they asked what she wanted for her birthday, she said she wanted to go to Saluda one more time.

The Graydons stayed in the house on Chisholm Street. Theirs was the first house on the left as you go up the hill from Ozone that used to be Laurel Drive. Mr. John Renfro later had that house and lived there for years. He was the best talker on Saluda benches for some time, and he was a good listener too.

Mountain Laurel or Rhododendron?

The easiest way to discern mountain laurel from rhododendron is by comparing the flowers. Mountain laurel usually blooms from May to June and has pink or white flowers with a red stripe encircling the center. The flower petals are fused together to form small cups, about a half inch to an inch wide.

Rhododendron blooms in June to July and bears clusters of 10 to 20 bell-shaped flowers at the end of small branches. Flowers are about 1.5 inches wide. Depending on the species, blooms may be white, pale pink, lavender or deep rose.

Rhododendron produces larger, oblong-shaped seed capsules that split open in October.

Rhododendron's dark bluish-green leaves are thick and leathery and range in size from 4 to 14 inches long. Its oblong-shaped leaves are narrow at the base, wide in the middle and rounded at the end. In cold weather or times of drought, rhododendron's leaves roll up into tight cylinders. The underside of the leaf is pale green or rusty brown. Mountain laurel has elliptical-shaped leaves with pointed tips. Leaves are glossy yellow-green to dark green and generally smaller than rhododendron's, about 2 to 5 inches long.
