Senator Sheldon Whitehouse, Guest Speaker

Temple Emanu-El is honored to welcome Senator Sheldon Whitehouse this Shabbat. He will speak in the Bohnen Vestry beginning at 12:30 PM. After his opening remarks, he will welcome questions from the congregation.

In the United States Senate, Sheldon Whitehouse has earned a reputation as a fierce advocate for progressive values and a thoughtful legislator capable of reaching across the aisle to achieve bipartisan solutions. The Providence Journal described Sheldon as a “strong-willed and articulate member of the Senate on national issues and an energetic champion of Rhode Island economic and other interests.”

Senator Whitehouse’s work in the Senate has focused on defense of Social Security and Medicare, delivery system reform in our health care system, confronting threats in cyberspace, the health of our oceans and coasts, campaign finance reform, and improved American infrastructure.

Whitehouse has been at the center of bipartisan efforts to reform the criminal justice system, overhaul federal education law, and strengthen our nation’s cyber-security protection. In 2016, his comprehensive legislation to address the nation’s opioid abuse epidemic was signed into law. A member of the Senate Budget Committee since 2007, he has also worked closely with Republican members of the Committee to improve the Senate budget process.

A graduate of Yale University and the University of Virginia School of Law, Sheldon served in multiple senior roles in the Sundlun Administration before his appointment by President Clinton as Rhode Island’s United States Attorney in 1994. Sheldon was elected Attorney General of Rhode Island in 1998, and in 2006 to the Senate, where he serves on the Finance Committee; the Judiciary Committee, the Environment and Public Works Committee; and the Budget Committee.

He and his wife, Sandra, a marine biologist and environmental advocate, live in Newport. They have two children.
