Daniel Sherman is a strategic and organizational consultant focusing on peace and development issues. He served as a Senior General Staff officer in the Israel Defense Forces’ Strategic Planning Division where he worked on the peace process and Israel’s defense-oriented international relations (completing reserve duty with the rank of major); developed social welfare programs for disadvantaged Jewish communities in central and eastern Europe with the Joint Distribution Committee; worked on strategic planning and leadership development at the Mandel Foundation; and was International Relations Director for the Israeli human rights organization, B’Tselem, where he was responsible for engagement with diplomats and international policy makers.

Daniel recently launched Yuvalim, an innovative project that promotes peace and shared society in Israel by linking communal networks with visionary Israeli leaders and with outstanding organizations working to solve Jewish-Arab and Israeli-Palestinian conflicts. To launch Yuvalim, Daniel embarked on a 273 kilometer solo sea kayaking journey in May 2016 from Nahariyya to Ashqelon during which he met and spoke with Israelis and Palestinians about their views on peace and war.

Daniel made aliya from the United States in 1990 and lives in Modi’in, Israel with his wife and two children. In his free time, he enjoys hiking, writing and sea-kayaking.

Please come and enjoy this special opportunity to learn from someone who has been intimately involved in the peace process.

Rabbi Steven Greenberg, the first openly-gay Orthodox Jewish rabbi, is coming to speak on campus on April 25th. Rabbi Greenberg wrote "Wrestling with God and Men: Homosexuality in the Jewish Tradition" and founded the LGBT Orthodox advocacy group Eshel. All are welcome!

Goldilocks and the Three Orthodoxies:
Traditional Responses to Same-Sex Relationships
Orthodoxy is arguably the most diverse of the contemporary Jewish denominations. While the Orthodox response to homosexuality has at times seemed univocal, in fact the record demonstrates much variety. On the basis of contemporary documents and alongside an Eshel Survey of 60 Orthodox rabbis, Rabbi Steve Greenberg will offer three distinctive portrayals offered by Orthodox rabbis to this challenging new set of human realities.
