Labor Dept. Presents Essential Job Services

PIERRE, S.D. – Yankton area human resources and business leaders are invited to attend a special presentation “DLR Job Services: Essential for Your Workforce Success” on Tuesday, Aug. 1 from 12 – 1 p.m.

State Labor and Regulation Secretary Marcia Hultman will provide an overview of South Dakota’s current labor market, along with information on the enhanced SDWORKS jobs database, Dakota Roots’ recruitment efforts, apprenticeships, and training opportunities and soft skills workshops.

“The Department of Labor and Regulation continues to seek out solutions to business needs,” said Secretary Hultman. “While there is not one solution to our workforce challenges, there are many existing and evolving resources to help.”

The event will be held at the Avera Professional Office Pavilion and is hosted by the Southeast Society of Human Resource Managers and Yankton Area Progressive Growth (YAPG).

“We appreciate the state’s support to tackle workforce development issues,” said YAPG Workforce Development Coordinator Rita Nelson. “I look forward to the continued dialogue and partnership.”
