

From the Desk of Richard Knittel

EDUCATION

Chair	RICHARD KNITTEL, Prime Power Services, Inc. rknittel@primepower.com
Vice Chair	PAUL FELD, Penn Power Systems pfeld@pennpowersystems.com
Secretary	GREG WALTERS, HOTSTART INC. gwalters@hotstart.com
Board Liaison	MICHAEL POPE, EGSA Director of Education m.pope@EGSA.org

Great! You decided to spend your hard-earned company dollars and attend the EGSA Fall Convention! This is a business world, we must justify expenses, show a return on investment. How do you do this? Easy, just participate. Do this by going to the committee meetings, meet the members, become involved, ask questions, offer ideas, and volunteer.

The Education Committee is a broad-based group with a huge impact on this organization.

The Education Committee will be meeting Monday after lunch break during our fall convention. The meeting will offer an opportunity to let your voice be heard on the important topics which help guide and form our organization. The education committee's mission can best be summed up in its past accomplishments, such as our technician certification program, The George Rowley Schools, the Onsite Power Generation guide book, and the upcoming Load Bank Certification program.

Our industry is racing ahead, constantly incorporating and adopting new technologies. We want to encourage all walks of our industry to join our committee meeting so we may learn from one another and spread this knowledge amongst our members. The knowledge we gain and pass on is what will add value to your attendance.

Thanks, we look forward to seeing you in Minneapolis!

Richard Knittel
Prime Power Services, Inc.
2017 EGSA Education Committee Chair