

2018 QUARRY SUMMITS

NCAA and NCDOT will be hosting three Quarry Summits next month.

If you are not familiar with the summits we've had in the past, they're an "open house" to educate NCDOT about the aggregate industry and provide them more information about the materials produced at each quarry, product balance, alternate products, specialty products, communication, etc. This setting provides NCDOT's field forces and the aggregate industry the opportunity to discuss local issues. The Summits also include a tour of the quarry.

NCDOT expects at least 50 of their Division personnel to attend each event. The Division personnel attending will be - County Maintenance Engineers, Assistant Resident and District Engineers, Bridge Maintenance Supervisors, and M&T field inspectors.

This year's summits are:

Thursday, May 3 at Vulcan Materials Company's North Quarry (4401 North Patterson Ave., Winston-Salem)

Invited from NCDOT - Division 9, neighboring Divisions, M&T.

Wednesday, May 16 at Martin Marietta's Benson Quarry (13661 Raleigh Road, Benson)

Invited from NCDOT – Division 4, neighboring Divisions, M&T.

Thursday, May 24 at Harrison Construction's Dillsboro Quarry (627 Mack Town Road, Dillsboro)

Invited from NCDOT – Division 14, neighboring Divisions, M&T.

The summits will begin at 9:30 am and finish about 12:30 pm.

The Summits are open to all NCAA members - If you work with NCDOT personnel that will be attending one of these summits, we hope you are able to attend.

Please contact the Association office if you plan to attend one of the Summits, so we'll know how many to expect at each location.
