

Contemplative Studies Project of New York

presents a screening of a contemporary award-winning documentary:

BEYOND RIGHT & WRONG

STORIES OF JUSTICE AND FORGIVENESS

Sunday afternoon

November 13, 2016

12 noon – 3:00 pm

Anthology Film Archives

32 2nd Avenue

New York City

“Somewhere between right and wrong, there is a garden.
I will meet you there.”
---Rumi

An American documentary film about restorative justice and forgiveness.

Directors: Roger Spottiswoode
Lekha Singh

This film depicts victims and perpetrators of the Rwandan Genocide, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict and trouble in Northern Ireland.

With hypnotic directness and sensitivity this widely acclaimed documentary explores the emotional terrain that exists between perpetrators of terrible crimes and their victims.

“Beyond Right and Wrong” follows the delicate, extraordinary relationships that form between several dyads of perpetrator and sufferer and the mutual transformations that occur. The film asks the questions: How does one forgive? How does one atone for deeds that seem beyond forgiveness and atonement?

Please join us for this special screening, which will be followed by a discussion featuring panelists with unique personal and professional experiences facing these questions

To purchase a ticket and reserve your seat, please go to brownpapertickets.com.

Profits will go to charity.

With any questions about the event or reservation process, contact Michael Fayne, PhD at mcfaynephd@gmail.com.