INTERLEAGUER

VOLUME 77, NUMBER 10 • OCTOBER 23, 2017

COLUMN ONE

The Royal Friends marched in the Azusa and El Monte Parade the last two Saturdays. Looks like it's time to take a Saturday off.

Dreams Come True on Friday Night

Every girl dreams of becoming a Disney princess some time in her life and on Friday, October 27 that dream will come true for some lucky Rio Hondo Prep girls at the RHP Homecoming. The Royal Friend and Division 3 girls will be performing and get a front row seat for all the activities. The football game will also be important for the Kares as they hope to earn a playoff spot with a victory over Trinity Classical Academy. Plan to come out and support the young men and women who help with your child's team on this huge night.

October is the Time

The volleyball post season is beginning and football playoffs come a little after that, so it's not too late to start thinking about basketball. October is the best time to sign up for those who are not current members. Many teams are full or close to being full so the sooner, the better. If you know someone who wants to be a part of Kare Youth League then now is the time to get them to come in and sign up. Make sure to pay your own membership fee on time so you can secure your spot on the team for basketball. Current members always get first priority.

Don't Forget to Get on Team App

Many parents have already tapped into Kare's new communication method "Team App". Here are some quick steps to get started:

- 1) Download "Team App" at the Apple or Google Play Store.
- 2) Sign up to "Team App" and you will receive a confirmation email.
- 3) Log in by your facility and team.
- 4) Please identify yourself in the "Access Request Message".
For example: "Mom of Joe Smith on the FSU A Team"

"Someday" by Charles Swindoll

Someday when the kids are grown, things are going to be a lot different. The kitchen will be incredibly neat. The sink will be free of sticky dishes, the garbage disposal won't get clogged on rubber bands or paper cups, and we won't lose the tops to jelly jars, catsup bottles, the peanut butter, the margarine or the mustard.

Someday when the kids are grown, my lovely wife will actually have time to get dressed leisurely. A long, hot bath without three panic interruptions, time to do her nails (even toenails if she pleases) without answering a dozen questions and reviewing spelling words. She'll have her hair done that afternoon without trying to squeeze it in between racing a sick dog to the vet and a trip to soccer practice.

Someday when the kids are grown, I'll be able to see through the car windows. Tongue licks, fingerprints, sneaker footprints and dog tracks (nobody knows how) will be conspicuous by their absence. The back seat won't be a disaster area, we won't sit on jacks or crayons anymore and the tank will not be somewhere between empty and fumes.

Someday when the kids are grown, we won't run out of toilet tissue. My wife won't lose her keys. The lights won't be on in every room in the house. I won't have to dream up new ways of diverting attention from the candy display or have to answer "Daddy, is it a sin that you're driving 47 in a 30-mile-per-hour zone?"...or promise to kiss the rabbit goodnight...or wait up forever until they get home from dates.

Yes, someday when the kids are grown, things are going to be a lot different. One by one they'll leave our nest, and the place will begin to resemble order and maybe even a touch of elegance. The crackling of the fireplace will echo through the hallway. The phone will be strangely silent. The house will be quiet...and calm...and empty...and we'll spend our time looking back to yesterday and thinking, "Maybe we can babysit the grandkids and get some life back in this place for a change!"
