

Breakout Session Calls

Disclaimer & Rules:

By dialing in to this conference call, you are agreeing to the following terms and understanding the items below:

- This conference call will be recorded, but will not be shared nor posted anywhere. It is recorded in case of an issue arising during one of the calls and for ALD Connect legal purposes only.
- No medical advice will be provided during this conference call.
- There will be no harassing, badgering, yelling, swearing, etc. at any of the attendees or those mentioned on the call, including those not present on the conference call itself.
- These calls are meant to be private discussions and the privacy of those on the calls should be respected.

Any participant misconduct during or after the conference calls may result in termination from the group, or termination of the group's calls altogether.

These calls are meant to be a positive group experience, bringing together those who share similar issues and feelings and allowing for an open comfortable discussion in a safe environment.
