

An Airport Social Story General Mitchell International Airport

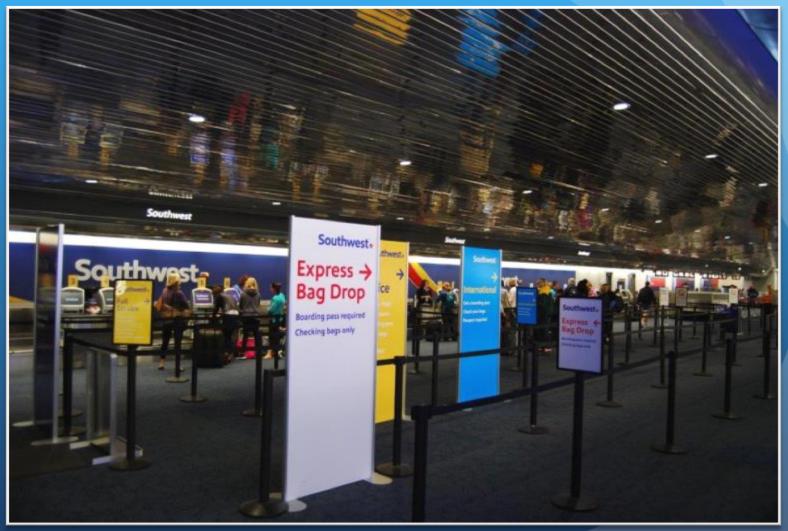

Practicing a Trip at the Airport

Sponsored by the Autism Society of Southeastern Wisconsin

People practice many things. I will practice taking a trip at the airport.

At the airport I will go to the check in area.

Sometimes I have to wait at check in.

At check in, I get a boarding pass.

Next, I go through security.

I usually wait in a line to go through security.

When it is my turn we I take off my shoes. I take off my belt. I put my shoes and belt in a plastic bin.

My backpack goes on the conveyer belt. I will get everything back soon.

I take everything out of my pockets. I take off my headphones.

I put my bags on the conveyer belt. The security agent will look at my things with an x-ray machine.

When it is my turn I will walk through the security doorway. I have to stand very still while in the x-ray scanner.

When security is finished looking at my things, I will get them back. I can put my shoes, belt, and headphones back on.

Next I walk to the gate to wait to get on the airplane.

People sometimes wait by the gate in the boarding area. They need to wait for the pilot and airline crew to get the plane ready.

The pilot and crew will tell me when the plane is ready. I line up and give my boarding pass to the gate agent.

This is the jet-way. The jet-way is the hallway between the airport and the plane. Sometimes I have to stop and wait in the jet-way.

When we get on the plane I will look for my seat number. I put my things away.

Sometimes, I need to wait in the aisle of the plane.

The crew tells me when the plane is ready to go. I usually have to wait for the plane to be ready.

When the plane ride is over I get my things.

I can say "thank you" to the crew when I leave.

I did a great job! I can go home!
