Doc's Bar and Grill is a friendly neighborhood bar here in Clinton. The welcoming environment includes two pool tables, several dart boards, pinball, and a bar. It serves Mexican inspired food along with some traditional bar menu items. The restaurant receives many positive reviews on websites such as TripAdvisor and Yelp. Reviews rave about the fish tacos as well as the friendly and outgoing wait staff and bartenders. One review states, "I've been there twice now and will definitely be going back. The fish tacos are awesome (we had them both times). I think the new owners are from Southern Cal, so the food has an authentic Mexican flavor." Another describes, "Went to this bar/grill with my sister, and it is clean, spacious and the bartender Jennifer was so friendly and welcomed us with her outgoing personality. I would go back just to see her." The bar is comfortable, friendly and draws people back because of its comfortable atmosphere and quality service.

The owners of Doc's Bar and Grill are Paul and Jane Orsini.

They started their business in Clinton about 4 years ago. Before moving to Clinton in 2003, they lived in San Diego, California. They got into the business because Paul had retired from his job as a financial advisor, and he "wanted to get into the bar business, and the timing was perfect".

According to Paul and Jane, their main goal is to grow their business but keep the same comfortable environment. They bought the bar when it was struggling to stay open and are proud of the growth in the business. Paul said they are also proud of the number of regulars they get in the bar. He says that "95% percent of people that come know everyone in there," and "it's not just a bar where someone will stop by and you won't see them again." In five years, they would like to see their business grow, and in ten years they'd like to be retired.
