

Steps to take:

1. Talk with your children about how much money they may receive in allowance each week. Then help them decide what portion of that they might give as a pledge to Calvary. Think together about what their gift to Calvary might accomplish. The amount is less important than the fact that even the smallest gifts can make a difference.
2. Talk with your children about what they love to do. How might they bring that activity to Sunday School? What difference might they make by doing what they love at Calvary? If they are comfortable with this idea, write it down and bring it to their Sunday School teacher, and we will find a way to include this gift of time and talent.
3. Keep your children's box of envelopes where it is easy to find and to remember each week.

David Miller