January 22 -February 12 - March 26

\*1702 Greene Street, Columbia, South Carolina 29201

This is a three-part series to be held at the Presbyterian Student Center. The purposes of these workshops are to give attendees an opportunity to listen to their brothers and sisters, whose experiences may be different from their own, and also for attendees to consider future actions that, may be taken by individuals or by groups. Ultimately, we hope to build bridges and find common ground to further race relations in our community.

First date: Monday, January 22, 2018 – Panel presentation: A panel of African-Americans will present their perspectives and experiences. A list of takeaways will be compiled from the panel presentations.

Second date: Monday, February 12, 2018 – Panel presentation: A panel of law enforcement officers will present their perspectives as law enforcement officers. A list of takeaways will be compiled from the panel presentations.

Third date: Monday, March 26, 2018 – Moderators will lead small group discussions on the list of takeaways compiled at the two previous panel presentations. These discussions may identify actions necessary to move forward within the area of race and law enforcement.

There is no charge for these workshops and reservations are not required but would be helpful in our planning (materials, etc.). Individuals and groups may contact Dr. Lydia Willingham at lydiawillingham@att.net, or 803-712-3587 with the number attending or for additional information.

*A note about parking at the student center: There are approximately 20 parking spaces available at the Center, as well as parking across the street, but we encourage folks to carpool if possible.
