AC season is normally one of the most profitable times of the year for auto repair shops. Yet, every season it seems that in every shop there are at least 1 or 2 jobs that don't exactly work as well as expected; with higher than expected vent temperatures. Why??

Most technicians are familiar with the pressures they want to see after charging an AC system. But, few are tuned in to temperature diagnostics at the condenser, evaporator and even the compressor.

Attendees of this class will receive real world, no nonsense testing tips that will help fine tune every AC job in your shop; making sure the system is working a peak efficiency.

Bonus topics include: R-HFO 1234yf Update, Start/Stop AC Technology, Hybrid AC System Tips.

This Class is excellent information for the Technician, Service Manager & Shop Owner, looking for a deeper understanding of how AC systems work & diagnostic knowledge of air conditioning system repair.
