Featured Infinitec Stops This Week

Autism 1-2-3

Presented by Mo Buti, M.ED-BD, M.ED-ADMIN, Autism Educational Consultant

1 Setting the Scene & Locating the Supports for Students with Autism

When working with students with autism it is important to make sure that your environment is set up for success! This first recorded webinar in the series introduces how to create the most conducive learning environment by creating physical visual boundaries, and stations, organizing desks, providing visuals and more. Once your environment is ready you are ready to find supports online to use to enhance your students' academic progress. This webinar explores many options to motivate your students! A presentation handout is available for download. Running Time: 59:35; Learning Credits: 1.25

2 Self-Regulation, Reinforcement Systems and More

In this second session of the autism series, Mo breaks behavior into multiple parts. She covers the function of behavior, reinforcement systems used to assist with lack of flexibility, and emotional/sensory self-regulation. A presentation handout is available for download. Running Time: 1:06:34; Learning Credits: 1.25

3 Social Supports for Students with Autism

Many students with autism have challenges in social skills. In this 3rd session of the series, Mo talks about strategies that work to increase a student's ability to successfully engage in social situations. Many resources that can be located online are also shared. A presentation handout is available for download. Running Time: 58:48; Learning Credits: 1.25
